FORTRESS' KEY IS CAPTURED

Japanese Said to Have Taken Ku-Wane Forts by Assault.

LOSSES ARE HEAVY

WILD TALE OF DARDANELLES

[Special Cable to The Gazette.]

Chefoo, June 7.—A report is current here tonight that the Japanese have captured the Ku-Wane forts, the key to Port Arthur, after a desperate assault all along the line, in which after fierce fighting they lost more than 10,000 men.

The report cannot be confirmed, but three different vessels, arriving at different times, all declared that there had been heavy firing all day yesterday in the vicinity of Port Arthur.

The Russian squadron, it is said, made an attempt to break through the Japanese blockading fleet last night. They were discovered by the Japanese scout boats and found Togo's battle line ready for them. After the exchange of shots at long range the Russian admiral thought better of it and returned to the shelter of the harbor. The Japanese torpedo boat flotilla made a determined effort to get to the Russian ships, but, so far as the reports reaching here indicate, were not successful, and little damage was done on either side.

Attack on Forts.

On the land it is reported the Japanese made a desperate attack on the Ku-Wane forts on the east of the railroad and just outside the main defenses of Port Arthur itself. This position, which is regarded as in a measure the key to the last line of defenses outside the fortress itself, is defended not only by the guns placed there before the outbreak of hostilities, but by a number of naval guns that have been added to the defense. If the Japanese have actually taken this position it must have been at a great sacrifice in men.

ST. PETERSBURG, June 8.—(Special) The government has no more information than the public of happenings in the neighborhood of Port Arthur. The lack of official news from southern Liao-Tung was responsible for the usual number of rumors throughout yesterday, among them the reports from Chefoo and elsewhere that the Russian squadron had made a sortie from Port Arthur and that the Japanese had begun a land attack upon the fortress.

No News in Russia.

The general staff could neither confirm nor deny these stories, anymore than similar ones during the past 48 hours. However, it was pointed out that, while a preliminary shelling of the land defenses of Port Arthur was not improbable, it is too early to expect news of a serious assault, which could not be pressed with any prospect of success until siege guns have been landed at Dalny, brought overland 20 miles and emplaced, and all the arduous preliminary work of a systematic advance against the outer works of Port Arthur completed.

LIAO-YANG, June 7.—The Japanese have drawn in their advance guards from Wafangow. They blew up part of the railway and the telegraph station on the night of June 3. The damage was soon repaired.

Samsonoff's Cossacks are harassing the Japanese toward Port Arthur. Cossacks searching the hills occasionally catch detached parties unawares. In the clothing of a Japanese officer of the Fourteenth regiment who was killed, important documents were found showing that the Japanese had lost heavily in the fighting May 30. Many of the Japanese killed wear tattered Chinese clothes such as spies use.

Samsonoff's Fight.

Samsonoff's fight with the Japanese, June 3, in the valley of Putsuintun took place in an immense amphitheater in the hills. Samsonoff threw forward skirmishers to feel out the Japanese positions. The Cossacks and dragoons crept forward, examining the steep hillsides, deep ravines and drywater courses likely to protect Japanese ambuscades.

Finally the Japanese fire on the crest of the hills located them, and the assailants swarmed up almost inaccessible cliffs. The Japanese first kept in the shelter of the rocks, but the Russian fire searched them out and they flitted shadow-like across the rocks as the Cossacks continued to advance, while the dragoons cleared the valleys leading from the amphitheater. The Japanese cavalry retreated, unwilling to risk a collision at close quarters.

The Russian line encircled one great hill on which was the principal Japanese position, and, like a living ribbon, crept toward the summit. Col. Sereda led the advance until he fell wounded half way up the cliffs. The command devolved upon Lieut. Col. Chiceville, who continued the forward movement, clearing the Japanese from the heights.

Sharpshooters Desperate.

In the meantime a Russian battery placed an accurate shell fire among the hill tops, hastening the Japanese retreat. Two Japanese sharpshooters on the summit of a hill seriously annoyed the Russians at a critical period of the advance. An officer of Terileski's company scaled the rocks in the face of almost certain death and killed both Japanese, returning unharmed.

Soon after the Russians had occupied the hilltop and an entrenched village they received an order to retire. Just then the Japanese artillery reserve was brought into action and showered the retiring Russians with shrapnel, but failed to get the exact range.

Besides Col. Sereda, 17 Russians were wounded in the day's encounter. The

NO HASTE ON SENATORSHIP

Gov. Pennypacker Says Decision Will Not Be Reached Soon.

CONFERENCE IS HELD

Penrose, Durham, McAfee and Governor Discuss the Situation.

BOOMERS HAVE A BUSY DAY

Gov. Pennypacker at 10:30 tonight after a conference with Senator Penrose, Insurance Commissioner Israel W. Durham and Banking Commissioner Robert McAfee, said that he had no official announcement to make relative to the filling of the senatorial vacancy. He also intimated that, so far as he, himself, is concerned, no decision may be reached for some time. It is his opinion that there is no necessity for haste.

Penrose and Durham arrived here at 7:10 tonight. They were met by Bromley Wharton, secretary to the governor, Commissioner McAfee and John Francis. Mr. Durham arranged for the newspaper men to see the governor at 10:30. At that hour the governor received the correspondents at the executive mansion. After some friendly fencing the governor said: "Senator Penrose, Mr. Durham and Mr. McAfee are here. They are enjoying cigars and discussing all sorts of things."

"Have you decided how and when you will move in the matter of filling the senatorial vacancy?"

No Need of Haste.

"No I have not; there is no necessity for haste. Congress has adjourned and the senate will not be convened until December. If the United States and China should become involved in a war and President Roosevelt required some financial backing it might be necessary to act at once.

"There are several things to be considered. First, whether the vacancy shall be filled by appointment, second, whether a special session should be called and if so, when. These and other questions must be disposed of."

"Then it is the legal phase which you are discussing tonight?"

"The legal phase, as you term it, will be considered elsewhere. Attorney General Carson will pass upon the law governing the case. I, too, have been reading up on the legal aspects of the matter," said the governor, with a smile.

"Then the presumption is that you are passing upon the availability of the various candidates?"

"I cannot control the matter of presumption," was the governor's parry to this lead. "The time has not arrived. If it had, I would be glad to give you the facts," said the governor, concluding the interview.

Senator Penrose was seen for a moment. He was shown a telegram from Philadelphia to the effect that he and Elkin, at their conference yesterday, had quarreled and parted bad friends.

"It is a lie," said Penrose with much emphasis.

Commissioner Durham and McAfee were together in another room. Neither desired to make any statement for publication.

Penrose and Durham will remain at the executive mansion tonight, going to Philadelphia in the morning.

Busy Day for Boomers.

Senator Penrose and Insurance Commissioner Durham resumed the senatorial levee in Philadelphia this morning.

Republicans from all parts of the state called. Some had been sent for while others came voluntarily to urge an indorsement of their individual candidate for the senatorial vacancy. All visitors were received and their arguments listened to with careful attention.

Both Penrose and Durham are determined to get in touch with popular sentiment. They believe that the only way to do this is to meet personally the county leaders and men prominent in party councils. When they have learned who, in the opinion of the party workers, is the most available man for the senatorial succession, they will promptly give him their support. In their talks with the many Republicans who have visited them, neither Penrose nor Durham have given any intimation as to their personal preference. They have made no effort to control or direct popular sentiment. Their only wish is to find the right man and when they have done so to tender him their hearty support.

Allegheny county was well represented today. R. R. Quay was an early visitor to Penrose's offices in the Arcade building. He had a private conference with Durham and the senator. Afterward Quay said his mission was not political, that he saw Penrose relative to personal business matters. Mr. Quay declared that he was taking no part in politics and did not intend doing so.

Muehlbronner's Opinion.

Senator Charles A. Muehlbronner, secretary of the Allegheny Republican county committee, also saw the state leaders. He said later that he was satisfied Quay's successor would be an Allegheny county man. Any of those submitted by the Republican organization, he said, would be acceptable to him. Ex-Representative John Henderson concurred with Muehlbronner. Representative John Francies of Allegheny also saw Penrose and Durham. Mr. Francies declined to be quoted beyond the statement that Allegheny county was entitled to the honor and it was his opinion that it would receive it.

County Chairman J. V. Clark of Washington said he favored the selection of a man from Allegheny. He had no personal preferences. Either of the men indorsed by the regular city and county organization would be agreeable to him. Congressman James F. Brown was another visitor, as were also County Con-

ROBBINS AND FLINN GO EAST

Have Gone to Philadelphia to Consult Republican State Leaders About Vacancy.

MR. OLIVER NOT A CANDIDATE

Senator William Flinn and Francis L. Robbins have gone to Philadelphia, carrying with them their United States senatorial booms. They will be joined in the east by a number of their friends.

The 10 o'clock train last night carried the two senatorial candidates. Mr. Robbins boarded the cars at Union station and the senator climbed on at East Liberty. Neither of them would talk about their candidacies. The latter said that he was going east in response to a telegram from County Chairman Ford. Before leaving the city Mr. Robbins received telegrams acquainting him with the situation as his advance agents saw it. It is understood that he is trying to get the support of Thomas S. Bigelow.

Mr. George T. Oliver yesterday morning informed the state leaders and the governor that he did not wish his name to be further considered in connection with the senatorship. His reasons for this action were purely private and personal and had no connection with the probability or improbability of his selection.

M. M. Garland, surveyor of the port of Pittsburgh, was also a passenger for Philadelphia last night. He said that he was not going to the Quaker City in the interest of any candidate for senator. Ex-Representative J. N. Moore of Butler returned to Philadelphia last night after a hurried trip home. He was met at the train by some of the boomers of Senator Flinn.

Thomas S. Bigelow said yesterday that he had gone to Philadelphia to do anything he could for John P. Elkin. "I will return," said he, "if Elkin desires my presence. It is my private opinion that he will be the next senator. There is no doubt that he wants the office."

Murry A. Verner, who had been in Philadelphia in the interest of Elkin, is home. He said that he had heard so many things in the east he did not know what to believe.

CLERK AND BELL BOY STEAL DIAMONDS WORTH $50,000

NEW YORK, June 7.—Fifty thousand dollars' worth of diamonds and jewelry were stolen tonight from Hotel Le Marquise, in East Thirty-first street. An hour later the valuables were found by the police in a furnished room in East Thirtieth street, occupied by William J. Dards and George Glocker, night clerk and head bell boy, respectively, at the Le Marquise. Both are under arrest.

The stolen jewels are the property of Mrs. Halsey Corwin, wife of the Brooklyn millionaire.

HANNAH ELIAS ARRESTED, CHARGED WITH EXTORTION

Doors of the Negress' Residence Were Battered Down by the Police.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, June 7.—Hannah Elias was arrested late tonight under most sensational and dramatic circumstances. With axes and crowbars the doors of the negress' house, at No. 236 Central park west, were battered down, after all other means to gain entrance to the house had failed.

Detective sergeants found the woman in her apartment on the second floor. A warrant charging her with extorting money from John R. Platt, under threats of exposure, was handed to her. Trembling at first, she regained her nerve a moment later.

"All right," she told them, "I'll go with you. I am not afraid to go to jail. I have done nothing wrong."

In a carriage which Kato, her Japanese butler, ordered for her, she was taken to police headquarters.

The specific crime with which she is charged is the extortion of $7,500 from Mr. Platt last month. To the negress her arrest came as a complete surprise. She had absolutely no warning, and after the days of waiting she had reason to believe that she would escape criminal prosecution.

SPLENDID VICTORY WON BY OREGON REPUBLICANS

Herrman Elected to Congress With 7,000 Majority and Williamson Piles Up 10,000.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

PORTLAND, ORE., June 7.—That the Republican party in this state scored an overwhelming victory yesterday is being made more apparent as the count comes in. Returns from isolated counties are coming in slowly.

Congressman Binger Herrman has been re-elected in the First district with a majority of about 7,000, while J. N. Williamson, the Republican nominee in the Second district, rolled up a majority of 10,000, and later returns may swell this estimate somewhat.

The next legislature will be Republican by a large majority and Republicans were elected to most of the county offices. Local option has probably been carried by a good majority.

CRAWFORD TOLD BIGELOW HE LIED

Insinuations and Accusations Passed Freely at the East End Board of Trade Meeting.

BOARD OF VIEWERS SCORED

Following insinuations and accusations of irregularities, the lie was passed between ex-President of Common Council C. S. Crawford and Director E. M. Bigelow at the East End board of trade meeting last night to act on the report of the board of viewers on the extension of Hamilton avenue. The session was stormy throughout. There was a large attendance of property owners, attorneys, councilmen and members of the board of trade. The meeting finally adjourned after a motion had been passed to appoint a committee of five to confer with the city attorney in an effort to have the court discharge the board of viewers and disregard their recommendations.

The proposed extension runs from Fifth avenue at the present terminus of Hamilton avenue, parallel to the Pennsylvania railroad, to Penn avenue. The cost of the improvement as assessed by the board is $1,388,000, of which $800,000 is assessed on abutting property holders and $586,000 upon the city.

Director Bigelow Starts Trouble.

Mr. Bigelow was the first speaker to address the meeting. He held that the destribution of damages as reported by the viewers to be unreasonable, that exhorbitant awards had been made in cases where the property owner was the chief beneficiary, and concluded with an argument on the necessity of the improvement for the welfare of the East End. He stated he had reasons to believe that a prominent attorney and former member of councils had been employed and had worked for the defeat of the ordinance calling for the extension, and that he had reasons to believe that the board of viewers had had undue influence brought to bear upon them.

An hour later, after attorneys and property owners had addressed the meeting for and against the report, C. S. Crawford, ex-president of common council, took the floor and said:

"When the chairman called this meeting to order he asked especially that personalities should not be entered into. The very first speaker opened the door for personalities. If he were a man of any respect, or had any respect for his people, or the chairman, he would not have done so.

Crawford's Flat Contradiction.

"I hope to be able to contradict a matter which was put before you in its broadest term. Every man in this house knows he referred to me when he said that a prominent attorney and councilman had been employed and worked toward defeating the extension ordinance in councils. I brand that as a malicious falsehood——"

"I'll go further than that! I'll go further than that!" exclaimed Director Bigelow, jumping to his feet. "I say that you are the man. I have reliable reports that you have been employed——"

"Out of order! Out of order!" "Make them sit down!" "Stop it!" "Move to adjourn!" came from all sides of the house, while President T. D. Harmon beat a terrific tattoo with the gavel in an effort to restore order.

Mr. Crawford continued, stating that he had voted for the measure when it was presented. He advocated that dissatisfied property owners appeal and suggested

PHIPPS SUES FOR DIVORCE

Pittsburgh Millionaire Has Brought Action at Denver, Col.

WOULD STOP INCOME

Injunction Sought to Prevent the Payment of Dividends to Mrs. Phipps.

WIFE MAKES A STATEMENT

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

Denver, Col., June 7.—At 10 o'clock last night while the court house was as quiet as a grave-yard, Attorney Gerald Hughes placed on file an application for divorce, brought by Lawrence C. Phipps, against his wife, Genevieve Chandler Phipps. The action, which is now in the district court, was not intended for the public ear, and so fearful was the counsel that the details of the complaint for absolute separation would become generally known, he succeeded in obtaining an order from a judge of the court for sealing the complaint in an envelope and having it placed in a vault. The allegations in the complaint have not been learned.

However, the defendants include John Pierpont Morgan & Co., the United States Steel Corporation and the United States Trust Company. All of these concerns have been and are paying dividends to Mrs. Phipps upon stock formerly held, it is said, by her husband. He now desires to shut off this avenue of riches from her unless the court compels him to convey to her certain papers. Embraced in the complaint is an application for an injunction to restrain all of the corporations from paying Mrs. Phipps further funds. The restraining order was not granted by any of the district court judges last night, and if any of them took such action this morning he refused to admit it.

It is rumored that Mrs. Phipps will not oppose the divorce suit very strenuously, the principal desire being to obtain the care and custody of the two children who were secured surreptitiously by Mr. Phipps last week.

Mrs. Phipps Makes Statement.

NEW YORK, June 7.—(Special.)—James M. Beck of Sherman & Sterling, counsel for Mrs. Lawrence C. Phipps, this afternoon gave out the following statement for Mrs. Phipps:

"As Mr. Phipps has seen fit to make a public statement as to our differences, I am released from a promise made to my counsel, Mr. James M. Beck, not to do the same. Differences have existed between him and me for several years. For the honor of the Phipps name, which my children bear, I trust that I may never find it necessary to state the nature of these differences.

"It is enough to say that they left me no other course as a self-respecting woman. For the sake of the children we continued to live together under the same roof, and returned only a few weeks ago from Europe, where we had been traveling with our children. On our return Mr. Phipps ostensibly went west on business, and, after taking the children to Pittsburgh, I came to New York to consult my two physicians.

"I was advised that my health required me to submit to a surgical operation, and I had perfected arrangements to have it performed as soon after June 6 as practicable. While awaiting it I was living at the Netherland. The fact was well known to my family, and my mail was forwarded to me from Pittsburgh. As the outcome of any surgical operation is uncertain, I naturally desired to have my two children with me in what might be my remaining days of life, and for this purpose I brought them from Pittsburgh to New York.

Bears Marks of Attack.

"It was under these circumstances that, without warning of any kind to me, and without even an intimation to me of any dispute as to their custody, they were forcibly taken from me on Friday last. As to the manner in which it was done, I shall make no comment. The facts speak for themselves.

"It is due to Mr. Phipps and his hired band of detectives to say that it is untrue that I was bound and gagged in my room at the Netherland. But it must be added that I still bear the marks of my husband's assault upon me when I attempted to reclaim my children in the car at Jersey City.

"Mr. Phipps' reason for such a step is beyond my comprehension. I prefer to assume that he may have acted upon some malicious rumor that I was about to take the children from him. Nothing was further from my purpose.

"I am advised that my right to the custody of these young children is clear, and unless they are peaceably restored to me I shall certainly invoke the aid of the law. If court proceedings must be had I have no reason to fear the outcome. I have nothing which I need seek to hide, and in this lamentable affair my conscience is absolutely clear."

Wife's Counsel Surprised.

Counsel for Mrs. Phipps were surprised to learn tonight that Lawrence C. Phipps has begun action for divorce in Denver. This action on the part of Mr. Phipps had not been expected at this time, at least. The husband seeks to restrain Mrs. Phipps from selling the Phipps home in Denver.

It appears that several months ago Mr. Phipps gave to his wife the property in Denver, valued at $350,000, their home in Pittsburgh, valued at $800,000 or more, and United States Steel Corporation bonds of the value of $500,000. It is the 5 per cent dividend payable on these bonds that Mr. Phipps now seeks to prevent his wife from receiving.

Neither J. Campbell Thompson nor James M. Beck, who are representing Mrs. Phipps, would discuss the bringing of the divorce proceedings by Mr. Phipps last night. Mr. Beck said that it was possible a statement would be made by him and Mr. Thompson tomorrow, after they had had an opportunity to confer with heir client.

UNION MINERS MUST GET OUT

First Batch of Prisoners Expelled from Cripple Creek.

BULL PEN IS FILLED

Men Forced to Leave the District Not Leaders in the Disturbance.

STILL MORE TROUBLE FEARED

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

Victor, Col., June 7.—The city of Victor is again under complete military control, the members of the three big unions in the Western Federation of Miners are largely in the hands of these authorities and government by the military with the aid and suggestion of the Mine Owners' association and the Citizens alliance is an established fact. Deportation was begun today and two carloads of union miners were sent out of the city under escort.

The fearful riots of yesterday afternoon left the city in a state of intense excitement that did not abate today. On Monday evening over a hundred of the union miners were in the bull pen and with the early morning the work of arresting them began. Company I., with Capt. Harry Moore in command, and Maj. Thomas McClelland, representing the adjutant general, had supreme control. Maj. Naylor, as acting city marshal, Mayor French and a committee of safety largely directed by C. C. Hamlin of the Mine Owners' association were the men who directed action. The militia scoured the entire district, taking the miners wherever they found them and the streets were busy with the tramp of marching soldiers and captive miners.

Evidence in Photographs.

It was 11 o'clock when Lieut. Haley Keegan secured the contents of the boxes in Miners' Union hall. The thing of interest to the committee and military was the pictures of the union men. Three constituted the evidence which the Mine Owners' association claim is damaging to the unions. There were about 40 photographs in all, and they were marked and checked so as to show who in each picture were non-union men. Over each non-union man was placed a number and on the back the names of the men were written with a corresponding number.

The pictures were all secured from the hall of Victor union No. 32. The picture which was most frequently shown was that of the night shift on the Vindicator mine. The five men checked in this group were: Charles McCormick, Alex. Ban, William Ramsey and Mel Beck, and Joseph Permort, of the Golden Cycle. The names of McCormick and Beck were scratched over and the military and mine owners claim that this showed the union to have marked these two men for a killing. The men are the two who lost their lives in the Vindicator explosion last winter.

Other Marked Groups.

Another picture shown was that containing the names of three non-union men: Joe Birdsall, Dan Coley, Ray Raymond, Bill Sheehan, Allen Birne, Tate Ludigan, Bill Ramsey, Wisley Richter and a man named Hoyt. The names of Berne and Ludigan were marked out. A picture of a shift on the Orpha mine showed Charles Higgins, Charles Walker and Lester Rogers. On the Theresa shift, William Aitkins, William Gray, William Alderford, Fred Renshaw and Don McKeon were shown in another picture. The picture showing the day shift of the Golconda showed John Myrvasa and Joe Acton. Another had Tom Wilson, shift boss in the Independence, marked with a check.

A short meeting of the Citizens' Alliance was held, when arrangements were made for swearing in 50 new sheriffs to relieve the troops and carry out the plans. Then some of the union miners were brought in and the pictures were shown to them. James Cochran, secretary of Union No. 32, was first brought in under a heavy guard. He declared that he did not know who the men were, or when the pictures were taken; that they were all taken before he had become a member of the union, and that he knew nothing of any man ever being marked for slaughter.

Ropes Were Ready.

"Make him confess;" yelled a man in the crowd and things became exciting. Two new ropes, with running nooses conventently made, lay on the table before Cochran.

"Put a rope around his neck," called out another voice, and similar remarks were heard all over the room.

Cochran protested and said that all he knew of the use of such photos was that they were taken for "scab pictures," and in this way the non-union men could be kept track of. He did not change his story and several other union men were brought in under similar circumstances, but no changes were made.

It was rumored several times during the day that Cochran or some other member of the union had entered into confession, but the rumor was not substantiated.

K. C. Sterling, secret service officer of the mine operators, "sweated" several union men during the day and said he had valuable testimony, but would not divulge it. He secured from John Harper, the proprietory of the Union store, and his clerks the statement that some revolvers were to be found in the store, and the guns were found as suggested.

Deportation Decided on.

Deportation was decided on or at least announced early in the day. It was set for 2 o'clock, but fresh arrests and the dispatch of two trainloads of deputies to Bull Hill to arrest the pickets stayed the plans of the deporters.

ETZEL WAS FOULLY MURDERED BY CHINESE SOLDIERS

COMPANIONS TELL THE STORY

[Special Cable to The Gazette.]

LONDON, June 7.—Louis L. Etzel, an American war correspondent on the staff of the Daily Telegraph, and Ernest Brindell of the Daily Mail were fired upon by Chinese soldiers while in a junk cruising off the Liao-Tung peninsula, between Schwantaitze and Erdiko. Etzell was killed but Brindell escaped and managed to make his way to assistance on land.

Etzel was a native of Butler, Pa., but had been in China for a considerable length of time. United States Consul Miller has left Niuchwang by special train for the scene of the killing, and he will thoroughly investigate the matter. Etzel and Brindell left Niuchwang on June 3, and the death of the former occurred the following morning.

"Our intention was to cruise along the Liao-Tung cost. About 6 o'clock in the morning, the junk was surrounded by four sailing boats manned by Chinese soldiers, who, without explanation, opened fire, their shot falling all over our boat. We were below reading and writing, and Etzel, looking out, received a fearful wound in the back of his head and expired in a few moments.

"The soldiers, who were dressed like pirates, said they mistook us for a priate boat they were seeking. They afterwards donned uniforms.

"I walked to Tien-Chwang-Tai to summon assistance. One of the Chinese crew was badly wounded and it is not likely that he will recover."

BUTLER, PA., June 7.—(Special.)—Louis Leonard Etzel, the correspondent of the London Telegraph shot and killed by Chinese soldiers at Niuchwang, was born in Butler 28 years ago. His father was Gabriel Etzel, who for many years conducted a general store on the site now occupied by the Guaranty Safe and Deposit and Trust Company's building. His mother was a daughter of Anthony Wise, deceased, and a sister of Leonard Wise, deceased; Mrs. George Knittle and Miss Barbara Wise of Butler; Casimer Wise of DeHaven, and Mrs. Jacob Etzel of West Cliffe, Custer county, Col.

Gabriel Etzel died 20 years ago, and his widow and family consisting of six daughters and two sons, Anthony and Louis, moved to West Cliff, Col., where they had been preceded by his brother Jacob. Anthony Etzel conducted a stationery store in West Cliff, and died during the last year.

LOUIS LEONARD ETZEL,
Formerly of Butler, Pa., the correspondent of the London Telegraph killed near Niuchwang by Chinese soldiers.

Louis Etzel was always of a roving disposition and during the last 14 years had visited almost every portion of the globe. During this time he had accompanied some of the most famous eastern exploring expeditions. He had often penetrated some of the wildest parts of the East Indies, and with Russell Harrison, son of ex-President Harrison, made a trip through the jungles of Borneo in 1901. At the time of his brother Anthony's death his whereabout were unknown by his family, and they could not send him word. His mother is still living with a married daughter in Denver, Col.

DENVER, June 7.—Anna B. Etzel, a stenographer, living in this city, with her mother and sister, received a cablegram today announcing the death of her brother, Louis Etzel, a newspaper correspondent, who was fired on in a junk and killed by Chinese soldiers. The cablegram contained no details. The dead correspondent was 36 years of age. He left home about 10 years ago, and had never returned.

SUSPECTED OF KILLING CHILD

Lizzie Schultz Held by Police for Death of Infant Last November.

MANY OTHER VIOLENT DEATHS

Lizzie Schultz, a Pole, aged 18 years, was arrested yesterday on suspicion of being the mother of the infant whose body was found on the Allegheny Valley railroad at the foot of Fortieth street November 21, 1903. The girl was arrested in connection with a robbery at the residence of O. M. George, 6345 Marchand street, on March 1. A quantity of jewelry was stolen from the George residence, and when the girl was arrested part of the jewelry was found on her. The girl confessed yesterday she had a child, but refused to tell what she done with it.

William A. Smith of 1237 Franklin street, Allegheny, died yesterday at his home. He was formerly driver of the horse ambulance of the Humane society. While attending an injured horse last week in Perrysville avenue, Smith received a kick in the breast. He became ill yesterday and died. His wife thought death was caused by the kick. As he had some accident insurance, she notified the company of his death. Two physicians called to examine the body, held a post mortem and determined that heart disease caused Smith's death. They informed Mrs. Smith the company would not pay her husband's policy. The case was reported to the coroner, whose physician will make an examination of the body.

Adam Patrick, aged 40, of 909 Bond alley, South Side, died at the South Side hospital last night from injuries received Saturday in Dilworth, Porter & Co.'s mill at South Fourth and Bingham streets.

James R. Fulton, aged 55, of 1009 Franklin street, Allegheny, was killed while in the Allegheny roundhouse of the Pittsburgh, Chicago & Ft. Wayne railroad yesterday. Fulton was an engineer, and in taking his locomotive out of the roundhouse put his head out of the window and it came in contact with the wall. Fulton had been employed by the railroad company for 37 years.

The body of Samuel Hoop, aged 16, of 4502 Minerva street, who was drowned while bathing in the Allegheny river Sunday, was found yesterday at the foot of Thirty-first street.

An unknown man was struck by a Baltimore and Ohio train at McKeesport yesterday and died after his removal to the McKeesport hospital.

PEABODY THINKS SAFETY ASSURED

Believes That Veteran Militiamen at Victor Can Easily Prevent More Trouble.

NO FEDERAL INTERFERENCE

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

ST. LOUIS, June 7.—Gov. Peabody of Colorado, who left here this afternoon for Denver, in an interview regarding the troubles in and around Victor, today said:

"I have but little hope that things will settle down before I get back home. I have great faith, however, in the militiamen stationed at Victor and Cripple Creek. There are only 160 of them, but all are tried and trusty veterans—the pick of the Colorado National Guard.

"If things assume an aspect worse than at present my able lieutenant, Haggott, knows perfectly well what to do. I have 2,000 more picked militiamen who can be hurried into the towns of the gold fields—Victor, Independence and Cripple Creek.

"I am out of my jurisdiction and consequently powerless to give instructions to my associates in Colorado right now. This does not weigh on me, however, as I believe they will do all I could if I were there personally to administer affairs."

Gov. Peabody was almost jubilant over the opinion of the supreme court.

"I have contended all along," he said, "that I had the right to suspend writs of habeas corpus in case of riots or insurrection. This is the first time the supreme court ever sustained that idea, although it has been advanced many times. Jefferson, Jackson and Lincoln all tried to suspend writs of habeas corpus on occasions during their administration, but their action never was sustained."

WASHINGTON, June 7.—(Special.)—President Roosevelt is greatly worried about the outbreaks and dynamite outrages in Colorado and is anxiously awaiting reports from trusted men in that state as to the true condition of affairs. Since the Cripple Creek and Telluride troubles commenced, the president has been frequently petitioned to send federal soldiers into the mining camps. These requests have been refused. It is today authoritatively announced at the White House that the federal administration will not interfere. The president has received telegrams that the trouble is localized and the peace and welfare of the state is not in jeopardy.

In response to queries as to probable federal interference, it is answered at the White House that there is no ground on which the national government can constitutionally interfere with the internal affairs of Colorado. No crimes have been committed against the government, the mails have not been obstructed and, under the Constitution, the federal government can only interpose to preserve order upon the request of the legislature of the state.

Tancred Commandery No. 48, K. T., Is to Have a Field Day Next Week

WINFIELD S. BELL,

JAMES LITTLE,

The annual field day of the drill corps of Tancred Commandery No. 48, Knights Templar, will be held on Thursday, June 16, at Calhoun park. These outings were inaugurated last summer on a plan somewhat different than that of former years, and the experiment proved so successful that they have been made a permanent feature of the commandery's entertainments. Calhoun park was selectd because, unlike the other parks near the city, it can be secured exclusively. Only members of Tancred and their friends will be able to secure admittance on the day of the outing. The park will be open from 2 to 11 p. m. and a varied program of amusements has been prepared. From 3 to 4 o'clock a euchre for ladies only will be given on the galleries of the main pavillion. From 3 to 5 o'clock there will be dancing to the music of Rocerto's band. At 5 o'clock dinner will be served. At 7 o'clock the commandery will give an exhibition drill, closing with a review, and dancing will be resumed at 8 o'clock.

The outing will be in charge of the officers of the commandery and a number of committees. The officers are Winfield S. Bell, eminent commander; Charles A. F. Swartz, generalissimo, and William F. Mehurst, captain general. The committes are as follows:

General—James Little, Chairman; William H. Davis, William M. Furey, Thomas Chester and George M. McCandless.

Euchre—Thomas Chester, chairman; Thomas F. Ashford, Jr., William J. Askin, Reed P. Blair, James Bonair, Charles A. Loughman, James P. Stephens, Walter Delafield, David W. Dunlevy, Walter G. Herr, George M. Froehlich, E. H. Haslam, E. T. Normcutt, George H. Wilkins and J. Curtis Cullinan.

Music—George M. McCandless, chairman; William A. Blakeley, J. Anderson Barker, Jesse C. Davis, Charles E. Dinkey, Leonard C. Jones, M. H. Laughlin, Humphries Miller, Benjamin N. McLain and Edward M. West.

While the outing is intended for the members of the commandery and their friends, invitations have been sent to a number of men prominent in Masonic circles. It is probable that Wilson I. Flemming of Bellefonte, the newly elected grand commander of Pennsylvania, will make his first appearance in the western part of the state on this occasion.

More of the local school boards met last night and elected officers. There were no deadlocks and everything went off swimmingly, even in the Oakland sub-district, Fourteenth ward, where, however, the board was completely reorganized. The district Robert Thompson, who has been president for several years, was defeated for re-election by William Hughes. John Aufderheide defeated W. L. Elford for secretary, and Mr. Elford defeated J. C. Shaw for treasurer. Teachers and principals will be elected at the next regular meeting. There will likely be several changes in the personnel of the teaching force owing to the shift in the control of the board.

Hancock sub-district, Fifth ward, re-elected the old officers. Nicholas Brown was elected president, William McGarvey treasurer, Edwin Kirby secretary and Edward Larkin janitor. Miss Kate Barry was chosen principal and Annie G. Newmon assistant. The old teaching force is retained.

The directors of the Hiland sub-district, Nineteenth ward, organized by electing D. L. Gillespie president, R. M. Sterritt secretary and J. E. Rodgers treasurer. Prof. A. B. Stephens was re-elected principal and the old corps of assistant principals and teachers was retained.

The school board of the Wickersham sub-district, Twenty-fourth ward, met last night and organized by electing the following: President, Thomas McCartan; secretary, John B. Yellig; treasurer, William P. Reynolds. Mr. Yellig was elected to represent the sub-district in the central board of education. The teachers will remain the same. A school picnic will be held at Allquippi park on June 23.

The Humboldt sub-district school board, Twenty-sixth ward, organized by electing as president Dr. J. A. J. Haupt; secretary, John Beck, and treasurer, John Keil. No change was made in teachers or principal. A picnic will be held on June 24 at Allquippi park.

The Birmingham sub-district, Twenty-eighth ward, elected Louis Knoepp president, Andrew Bauenstein secretary and Ebenezer Oliver treasurer. The election of teachers was postponed until the next meeting.

The new officials of the Bedford sub-district school board, Twenty-ninth ward, are Fred Pragner, president; William Zietel, secretary, and Henry Kilnding, treasurer. The present teachers were re-elected.

The board of the Riverside sub-district, Thirty-fourth ward, elected the following: President, John F. Holland; secretary, William F. McCue, and treasurer, Joseph Laugh. The election of teachers was not taken up. 9 school picnic will be held on June 15 at Allquippi park.

The Springfield sub-district school board, Twelfth ward, elected George Plato president, John E. Hunter, secretary; John H. Schlott, treasurer, and Louis Baker, janitor. Miss Mary L. Black was re-elected principal and Lizzie Edleman assistant. Last year's teachers were re-elected. The school will picnic at Olympia park on June 17.

Ralpin borough school board elected its corps of teachers for the next term. The teachers elected from 45 applicants are: Miss Elizabeth M. Thompson, principal; Myrtle Sterner, Laura Shallenberger, Emma Low, Bertha Stutzman, Pearl Wright, Esther Thunberg, Mathilda Roney, Grace Stutzman, Emma Hutchison, Anna B. Slaymaker, Minnie Campbell, Mary Gardner, Ella Richardson, Ella Watkins, Maude McBride and Mary Delo.

The school board of North Braddock borough organized for the coming year. A. Montgomery Scott was re-elected president, and Walter S. Colmert secretary. The school tax levy was fixed at 8 mills, and the Braddock National bank was elected treasurer. Prof. Charles K. Mc-Cabe, superintendent, was re-elected; Prof. Erastus F. Louchs was re-elected principal of the High school, and Miss Cecil Dean assistant principal. New teachers chosen are Emma Hutchinson, Anne M. Stucki, Beulah Remington and Helen Russell.

TWO YOUNG ROWDIES SPOIL THE FUN OF PICNICKERS

Cause a Jam of Boats in the Old Mill at Southern Park, Causing Panic Among Women and Children.

Joseph Luzene and Theodore Yohn were committed to jail last night on charges of malicious mischief made before Alderman C. C. McGovern by Michael Kerrigan, a special officer at Southern park, for a hearing this morning. The men created general disorder among people attending the picnic of the Baldwin township public schools, which resulted in two children having their arms broken while half a dozen other people were more or less injured.

The two men were occupying one of the boats in which trips are made through the "Old Mill." When passing through one of the dark passageways the men caught the sides of the mill sluice and thereby checked all the boats in the rear. A jam resulted. The men yelled and screamed. Their cries frightened the women and children in the other boats. A dozen women and children jumped from the boats into the water. Two young girls had their arms broken in the panic and a number of other women and children were bruised and drenched.

The attendants hurried into the dark passage and arrested Luzene and Yohn and pulled the women and children out of the sluiceway.

While the water in the sluiceway was only about 15 inches deep, the women and chidrn were badly frightened in the dark and got thoroughly soaked. The two children whose arms were broken live in Crafton.

NO HASTE IN FILLING VACANT SENATORSHIP

troller R. J. Cunningham, Recorder J. D. O'Neill and Mayor James Wyman.

Cambria county was represented by R. S. Murphy and J. Anderson Walters of Johnstown, and ex-Sheriff George Wertz of Ebensburg. Senator Cyrus E. Woods of Westmoreland saw Penrose. Woods will support the choice of the state leaders.

When Penrose and Durham started for Harrisburg at 4:30 they were joined by Senator McConkey of York, who accompanied them as far as the capital. McConkey after his talk with the leaders said:

"I can tell you the name of one man who will not be selected for United States senator." But he did not give the name of the unlucky candidate.

Mayor Connell of Scranton, who is only an Elkin supporter because his county supported Elkin for the governorship two years ago, was reported to have come to Philadelphia to assure Senator Penrose that Lackawanna county did not approve of the statements alleged to have been made by Deputy Attorney General Fred W. Fleitz and to tell Senator Penrose that the county organization would support any one whom he named for senator.

"If Elkin comes out as a senatorial candidate," said he, "our organization will not support him if he is not the choice of Penrose and Durham. However, as to the statements alleged to have been made by Mr. Fleitz, I can hardly believe them until I get better proof."

Mr. Fleitz, it is said, today denied having waved the bloody shirt. He asserts that he was misquoted by Philadelphia afternoon newspapers.

Ex-Attorney General Elkin went to New York this morning. He returned to Philadelphia this afternoon, but declined on his arrival to say more than:

"The matter is not settled."

Elkin's followers, that is, many of them, are still in a belligerent frame of mind. They openly threaten revolt if their leader is not agreed upon, but it is believed that wiser counsel will prevail.

Town Hall for Crafton.

FORTRESS KEY SAID TO BE CAPTURED

Japanese losses, owing to the accuracy of the Russian artillery fire, seemed heavy.

ST. PETERSBURG, June 7.—The general staff today received the following dispatch from Lieut.-Gen. Sakharoff, the chief of staff of Gen. Kuropatkin:

Sakharoff's Report.

"There is no change in the situation at Fung-Wang-Cheng.

"A Japanese detachment has evacuated a position which it occupied south of Wafangow, near the village of Chu-Chu-Tun, and retreated southward, pursued by our cavalry.

"During a reconnoisance, June 3, in the neighborhood of Slametsza, a detachment of Japanese infantry fired on our rear guard. Their approach was stopped by an advance of our troops. The firing lasted two and a half hours. We had two men killed and six wounded."

Grand Duke Alexis, commander-in-chief of the navy, according to an apparently reliable report, which is not officially confirmed, has obtained the permission of the emperor to create a third Pacific squadron from the ships of the Black sea fleet, and permission has already been obtained from Turkey to take the ships through the Dardanelles on the condition that they will not return.

This squadron will be composed, according to the report, of the battleships Rosslav, Svenadzt, Apostoloff and Tria Sviatitella, and will be accompanied by torpedo boat destroyers. It will sail for the far east simultaneously with the Baltic squadron.

England Not So Sure.

LONDON, June 7.—The foreign office has not received any request from Russia or Turkey to agree to the passage of the Russian Black sea fleet through the Dardanelles. It is pointed out that Turkey doubtless would be delighted to get rid of Russia's Black sea fleet, but the passage of warships through the Dardanelles would be a distinct contravention of the treaty, permission for which has neither been asked nor is likely to be granted if asked for.

TOKYO, June 7.—A detachment of the Japanese force which landed at Takushan surprised and routed a company of Cossacks on Sunday at Kan-Chia-Tun, on the Kinchau road, seven miles northwest of Takushan.

Supplementary reports from the blockading forces indicate that the Russian gunboat which was sunk by a torpedo off Port Arthur Saturday was of the Gremiashchi type instead of the Gilliak class.

Admiral Kataoka, commander of the Third squadron, reconnoitered at San-Shan-Tao and Ta-Ku-Tao. The Chinese say that when the Russians abandoned Taku Tao they poisoned the water sources. Admiral Kataoka is investigating the charges.

WASHINGTON, June 7.—The Japanese legation has received the following cablegram from Tokyo:

"Admiral Togo reports that the clearing-up operations in the Tallenwan bay is progressing satisfactorily despite rough weather. Forty-one mines were discovered and exploded between June 2 and June 6. A Chinese who formerly served the enemy as a pilot, is now usefully employed by us. One safe way was discovered rendering navigation possible for shallow ships."

that the city do the same if it felt the award had been too high.

Attorney J. McF. Carpenter, who represents D. J. Kennedy, who was awarded $41,000, said:

"While I am not in the councils of the ungodly, I do believe that every man should be paid for what is taken away from him. I admire Mr. Bigelow for his desire to have the improvement, as should every East Ender, but he seems infatuated with the idea that property owners should donate their all to the city. The meetings of the viewers were all public. The city's right-hand man was there. There were no star chamber sessions."

Mr. Bigelow again took the floor and stated that he believed that the people benefited should be assessed. He wanted every man to get his just due, but the awards were farcical and evidently some men had better lawyers than others. He then read a partial list of the heaviest awards, as follows:

|---|---|
| Amelia Speer | $ 32,000 |
| David R. Speer | 5,000 |
| Fidelity Title and Trust Company | 3,000 |
| Alexander Murray | 27,800 |
| John Bissell | 1,800 |
| Hugh Murphy | 5,500 |
| D. J. Kennedy | 41,000 |
| Consolidated Ice Company | 37,000 |
| Murphy Planing Company | 20,000 |
| Mellon Bros. | 125,000 |
| Mellon property | 15,000 |
| Peter Patterson | 21,000 |
| Henry Schaller | 4,425 |
| Lowenstein Bros. | 11,000 |
| Joseph Newman | 58,000 |
| Philadelphia Company | 58,000 |
| Sarah Hartley | 78,900 |
| Wadsworth Paving Company | 35,000 |

Difference in Two Awards.

Mr. Bigelow asserted that the proposed cut took the same frontage from Schaller's property as it did from the Mellons, cutting the properties in two, but the former was awarded $4,425 and the latter $125,000.

Many property holders followed with arguments pro and con. Mr. Dunlevy said he was allowed nothing for two strips to be removed, and, while he wanted no damages, would accept whatever any real estate man might recommend for the ground itself.

"You were allowed something for your property," interrupted the director. "Here it is, black on white. The board awarded you $2,841 damages and assessed you $2,841 for benefits."

Attorney J. H. Wise stated that, while he did not agree in all that "Chief" Bigelow had said, he agreed that it was human nature to inflate values against the city, "who is as friendless as an orphan without a guardian."

Select Councilman Charles H. West brought the argument to a close with a motion for the appointment of a committee of five to confer with the city attorney in an effort to have the board of viewers discharged.

Bigelow Accuses the Viewers.

Mr. Bigelow seconded the motion, prefacing it with: "It's criminal all the way through, and they ought to be run out of town."

"Will you furnish the committee with information and evidence that the viewers have not acted properly?" asked Mr. Crawford of the director.

"I have enough evidence in these figures," replied Mr. Bigelow.

"You intimate that they have been tampered with?" asked the former councilman.

"Without any doubt," was the reply.

"Then give the evidence! It is an outrage against the board of trade, the city and every one in it if it is true, and you should help the committee in its work. Give the evidence——"

"Question! Question!" yelled the audience as the dialogue became general.

The question was put and carried, and President Harmon announced, as the appointments required careful consideration, that he would appoint the committee at some future date, after which a motion to adjourn prevailed.

Mrs. Mary Bowen Reid Is Dead.

Mrs. Mary Bowen Reid, aged 70, widow of the Rev. Dr. William J. Reid, who for over 40 years was pastor of the First United Presbyterian church, Oakland, died yesterday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at her home, 920 Aiken avenue, East End. Mrs. Reid was born in Troy, Pa., where she was married to Dr. Reid October 20, 1862. She had been a resident of Pittsburgh for 42 years and was active in religious work in this city. At the time of her death she was secretary of the foreign department of the Women's Board of the Foreign Missions of the United Presbyterian church. She was also a member of the societies connected with the First church. She is survived by one son, the Rev. William J. Reid, pastor of the First United Presbyterian church, and two sisters, Mrs. Jeannette Crieque of Geneva, N. Y., and Mrs. Jane Dallard of Troy, Pa. Funeral services will be held over her remains at 2:30 p. m. tomorrow at the First church, and interment will be made at Allegheny cemetery.

five men and the books of the Free Coinage union, which had been hidden in a cabin, it was said. News that a deportation was being arranged spread rapidly, and the crowd increased to an immense size as the afternoon wore away. The state armory, now a bull pen, was surrounded with sightseers. Wives and sisters and children of the imprisoned miners were lined up opposite the armory watching their friends and relatives who crowded the windows and smiled or looked seriously on the upward gaze of the crowds below. The men were well fed. Many of their wives brought them good meals.

The train, consisting of a single coach, was drawn up and Sheriff Bell took a paper with a list of names and the men who were to be deported were lined up. With bluecoats on every side they marched silently down out of the armory to the train, followed by the immense crowd.

Every hill and neighboring ground was black with spectators. Everything passed in silence as the men mounted the steps of the train, the militia deployed on each side, and it setamed away. It was understood that the men were taken to Colorado Springs and turned loose there.

At 6 o'clock the crowd still remained to see the second deportation, this time of 52 men, from the county jail at Cripple Creek. The men were closely guarded, loaded into a box car and as the train pulled out there were wild cheers.

It was suggested that the proceedings of the day amounted to a military deportation, but it was stated that the military simply turned the prisoners over to the civil power, as represented by Sheriff Bell, and that the men were his to do with as he wished under the law. No warrants have been sworn out.

The men deported were not those against whom the mine owners hold the greatest ill will. They are those who have been idle for some time, it is claimed, and of whom the camp must be rid, say the operators.

The men who the operators wanted most are still in the bull pen. It was rumored fully a dozen times today that these men would be given one chance to confess tonight and that failing to do so there would be a wholesale lynching. The rumors were denied.

The bloodhounds in charge of Hugo Palmer of Trinidad today trailed the assassin who killed the Findlay miners to a mile beyond Clyde station, a distance of three miles. There the scent was completely lost. It is believed by the detectives working on the case that the assassin took a buggy at the place where the scent was lost and proceeded along the old stage road to Colorado Springs.

The coroner's jury visited the scene of the explosion today, after which adjournment was taken until tomorrow afternoon, when the taking of evidence will begin.

Aside from the occasional arrest of a union agitator by the military authorities or the sheriff's deputies and the occasional crack of a rifle from some dark secluded spot in the foothills, last night passed off quietly. All night, however, the streets of the city and the footpaths leading to and from the mines were watched closely by the troops and the deputies, and every few minutes a miner was brought in and placed in the armory, which is under military guard.

DENVER, June 7.—The convention of the Western Federation of Miners today delegated to the executive committee full charge of the Colorado situation both politically and otherwise, with instructions to use their best judgment in the fall campaign.

A telegram was received from Eugene V. Debs, saying: "Enemy is desperate. You are on top. Stand pat.

A resolution condemning the "nefarious dynamiting plot which sent 15 miners to their death and seriously injured a number of others at Independence, Col." was adopted unanimously by the convention. A reward of $5,000 is offered by the Federation for the capture of the perpetrators of the outrage. Vice President J. C. Williams and Secretary-Treasurer William D. Haywood were today re-elected to their former positions.

Adjt.-Gen. Sherman M. Bell and six officers of the national guard, left Denver for Cripple Creek tonight. It is probable that a proclamation of martial law in Teller county will be issued on his arrival at Cripple Creek.

SHARP FIGHT IN COMMON COUNCIL

Action of Finance Committee Approved and Select Will Follow Suit Today.

BANK MEASURE ATTACKED

After a sharp contest common council last night approved the action of the finance committee in selecting the Farmers Deposit, the Allegheny National, Second National and Columbia National banks as city depositories, and select council is expected to do likewise this afternoon. The resolution appointing these banks was reported out of the finance committee and was attacked by William Brand, who claimed that the finance committee had acted illegally.

He said the resolution should have first been introduced in councils instead of originating in the committee. He cited a portion of the new charter act of 1901 to show that it was the power of councils and not of the finance committee to elect the city depositories, and that councils in approving the resolution was acting under an ordinance of 1888 which was rendered null and void by the charter act of 1901.

The Citizens leaders were unable to answer Brand's argument, and Helmold called upon City Clerk Hassler to explain the law. Hassler said it was the belief of the administration that the approval of the action of the finance committee by councils would fulfil the requirements of the new charter act.

Party Ranks Broken.

Brand insisted that the action of the committee was illegal and would give sufficient grounds for the matter to be taken into court. Bole, in presenting the resolution, had moved its adoption. Guiland moved that the resolution be referred to the city solicitor for an opinion as to its legality, but President Ward ruled this motion out of order and that Bole's motion had precedence. Guiland then moved to amend Bole's motion, but Ward also ruled this out. Then Perley moved that Bole's motion be laid on the table. This was the test vote and showed that while the Citizens had gained two Republican members three or four Citizens were with the Republicans.

The motion to lay Bole's motion on the table was defeated by a vote of 26 to 20, as follows:

Ayes—Barr, Barton, Bergmann, Brand, Bright, Collins, Dengler, Gallagher, Gilmorewood, Guiland, Johns, Joyce, Kohne, Lewis, Milby, Morin, McKnight, Perley, Semmelrock, Steel—26.

Noes—Bole, Bonini, Fiverty, Fullerton, Gibbon, Hammer, Helmold, Hogue, Hughes, Kalchthaler, Maslowski, Martin, Mathews, McKelvey, McNally, O'Brien, Frankuch, Porter, Rapp, Roenick, Sheehan, Taylor, Wallace, Walls, Zeuger, Ward—26.

Citizens Lost Four Members.

The Citizens who voted with the Republicans were Bright, Collins, Dengler and Steel. The Republicans who voted with the Citizens were Gibbon and Martin. Gibbon said he voted against Perley's motion by mistake.

The motion to pass the resolution was then considered, and Semmelrock and Steel spoke against it. Semmelrock said the city ought to get more than 2 per cent interest on its deposits, when the the banks were paying as much as 4 per cent on small deposits. Steel said the city opght to get at least $100,000 more in interest than it would receive. He said each of the banks would make $30,000 a year out of the city's funds.

Brand raised a new objection. He said the city under the new charter could not let a contract for more than one year, whereas the resolution provided for a four-year contract. The resolution was passed by a vote of 28 to 17, several members not voting.

Verner at City Hall.

Murry A. Verner was at the city hall before the meeting of council and assisted the Bigelow lieutenants in lining up the members for the resolution. A number of Citizens members, suspected of being weak-kneed, were corralled on hand before the meeting and kept in tow until council met, being fed at a downtown restaurant and then taken to the city hall.

With the exception of two or three of their number, the Republicans remained out of the council chamber in the hope of preventing a quorum, but when this failed they took their seats. When the roll was called only 27 members responded, only one more than a quorum. The door of the chamber was closed and the sergeant-at-arms was instructed to allow no members to go out.

One of the Twenty-third ward members was persuaded to enter the meeting to aid in getting a quorum being promised that the ordinance appropriating $5,000 for the building of the Melanchton street bridge would be passed. After the bank resolution was passed the bridge measure reported this promise was not kept. A motion was made to suspend the rules to put the bridge ordinance on second and third reading and final passage. A three-fourths vote was required to suspend the rules, but less than a majority voted for the motion. The vote was 23 ayes and 24 noes.

Firemen Given a Vacation.

John A. Joyce of the First ward presented a resolution granting the employes of the fire bureau a two weeks' vacation with pay and the resolution passed by a unanimous vote. Rapp wanted the vacation limited to 10 days, but the other citizens disliked to antagonize the firemen.

Semmelrock introduced a resolution directing the mayor to take the necessary steps to purchase the Monongahela water works, and Roenigk presented a resolution asking the solicitor to furnish councils with a statement as to the proper course to acquire this plant.

An ordinance was introduced granting the Pittsburgh, Virginia & Charleston railroad the right to lay a series of tracks across South Side streets for the extension of its yards. Ten tracks are to be laid across Thirteenth street between Sarah street and Jane street, four tracks across Jane street about midway between Twenty-eighth and Twenty-ninth streets, two tracks across Sarah street about 220 feet westwardly from Thirteenth street, and one track across Carey alley at 300 feet westwardly from Thirteenth street.

President Ward appointed Brand, Roenick and McKelvey as additional members of the special committee to entertain the Philippine commission. Porter introduced a resolution appropriating $5,000 for this purpose.

T. A. Milby, who succeeds James Reed, deceased, from the Thirty-second ward was sworn in. The ordinance increasing the salary of the chief clerk or bookkeeper in the controller's office from $2,000 to $2,500 was passed finally.

INDIAN WANTED A PASS.

Yellowberry of Dakota Unable to Secure Transportation to Carlisle.

Yellowberry, a Dakota Indian, was at the mayor's office yesterday looking for a man who promised to get him a railroad pass to Carlisle. He came here with "Pawnee Bill" and took sick and had just been released from Mercy hospital. He said if he could get to Carlisle the government commissioner there would give him transportation back to his people in Dakota.

Yellowberry was dressed in the garb of civilization, save that he wore fancy rings in his ears and a red cockade in his hat.

The man he asked for was never known to call at the mayor's office and was said not to be on the pass list there. Yellowberry was advised to try the department of charities.

A PLATFORM PASSANGER GOT CAUGHT IN COLLISION

George Walters, 2300 Liberty avenue, was injured about the back and face in a rear-end street car collision yesterday morning. A Fifth and Shady avenue car crashed into a Bloomfield car, on the rear platform of which Walters was a passenger. The rear controller of the Bloomfield car was thrown forward, and striking Waters, knocked him over and pinioned him to the floor. The accident occurred through inability of the Fifth and Shady motorman to bring his car to a standstill and being unable to sound alarm in time to warn the Bloomfield car. The collision happened in Penn avenue, near Twentieth street.

DEPOSITORIES OF CITY SELECTED

ACTION ILLEGAL, SAYS LARKIN

The finance committee of councils elected four new city depositories yesterday afternoon, for a period of four years, beginning February next. Two of the old banks were dropped from the list, the Freehold and the First National, and the Columbia National and the Second National, substituted. The selection of the Second National was a great surprise, as this bank was said to be the chief promoter of the plan to divide the city funds among the national banks of the Pittsburgh Clearing House association.

There were reports yesterday that a compromise had been effected, whereby one of the new banks is to divide its city funds with the Liberty National, in which Director Bigelow has an interest.

"I believe there is a scheme of this kind," said Councilman John F. Steel. Steel said that he was in favor of the city funds being let to the highest bidder. "I know that one of the four banks which were selected today is paying 3½ per cent on daily balances, and the city should get more than 2 per cent. The county is getting over 3½ per cent."

Steel Opposed Administration.

Steel was much displeased because the Freehold was dropped, although both the Freehold and the Columbia are owned by the Colonial Trust Company. President Wightman of select council, and Dr. W. H. McKelvy, joined Steel in opposing the letting of the contract to the four banks selected by the administration. The administration, however, had lined up the finance committee and controlled it by a vote of 13 to 3. Every member of the committee, except Peter Hermes, was present.

P. J. Barry moved that the Farmers Deposit National bank, the Allegheny National bank, the Second National bank and the Columbia National bank be elected as city depositories for four years, beginning the first of the next fiscal year. Wightman said that this was a surprise to him, and he moved that action be deferred until the next meeting of the committee, so that the matter could be given proper consideration.

Dr. McKelvy opposed Barry's motion. He asked what rate of interest the city would receive from the banks mentioned and was told the city would get 2 per cent.

Dr. McKelvy Also Objected.

"Can we not do better than 2 per cent? I am a member of the central board of education and we do better than this," said he. "Why cannot councils get 3 per cent if the central board can? Is there anything to prevent us from advertising for proposals from all the banks of the city, say the national banks, and letting the contract to the highest and best bidder?"

Assistant Controller Morrow, clerk of the finance committee, told the committee that he was authorized by Controller Larkin to tell the finance committee that the selection of the city depositories must be by ordinance or resolution of councils; that the ordinance must be introduced in councils, referred to the finance committee and passed by both branches of councils. He said this procedure was required by the new charter act of 1901. The controller held that if the finance committee selected the depositories without a resolution or ordinance being first introduced in councils and taking the regular course of other bills, such action would be illegal.

Larkin Warned Committee.

Wainwright wanted to know what the law was. Chief Clerk Hassler read the special legislation by councils bearing on the subject. He first read an ordinance, passed by councils in 1879, which provided that councils should elect the depositories; then an ordinance of 1888 which took the election from councils and put it in the hands of the finance committee, and then the ordinance of 1900, which specified that four banks instead of three should be elected as depositories and that the next election after 1900 should be in June, 1904.

Assistant Controller Morrow said Controller Larkin held that the act of assembly of 1901, known as the new charter act, took precedence over any ordinance of councils enacted prior to that date.

The committee, however, disregarded the controller's protest and proceeded to select the four banks which had been slated. Wightman renewed his motion to postpone action until the next meeting of the finance committee. He demanded an aye and no vote, which was as follows:

Ayes—McKelvey, Steel, Wightman, Ward—4.

Noes—Barry, Gallagher, Helmold, Hughes, Maslowski, McNally, Schlernitzauer, Taylor, Wainwright, Walls, Zeuger and Bole—12.

Wightman moved to strike out the Columbia National bank and insert the First National bank. This was lost by a vote of 11 to 4. Barry then moved that the four banks named be selected as the city depositories and his motion was carried by a vote of 13 to 3, President Ward of common council supporting the motion, the three negative votes being cast by Wightman, Steel and McKelvy.

Larkin Will Fight.

Controller Larkin declared that the action of the finance committee was illegal and said he had been told by his attorney that it would not stand in court. The controller said any bank of the city could go into court and block the move, and he was ready to aid any bank in doing so. The controller gave as his authority article 7 of the new charter act, which states that the city treasurer shall deposit the city funds in the banks selected by councils.

The controller holds that councils and not the finance committee must select the banks and it must be done by a resolution or ordinance passed by councils in the regular manner. The controller said the city treasurer could refuse to deposit the city funds in the banks selected by the finance committee.

The finance committee also approved the ordinance appropriating $15,000 for the Schenley park race track. It was opposed by four members—Schlernitzauer, McKelvy, Walls and Masolowski. McKelvy said he was opposed to the city building and maintaining a race track for the benefit of owners of fast horses at the expense of the taxpayers. The committee also approved the appropriation of $10,000 for the drilling of artesian wells.

The sub-committee on salaries recommended ordinances increasing the salaries of the bookkeeper in the city controller's office from $2,000 to $2,500 and of the chief plumbing inspector of the safety department from $1,500 to $2,000. The sub-committee held a meeting last week and disapproved these measures, but it held another meeting yesterday afternoon, just prior to the finance committee meeting, and reversed its action.

The finance committee sent the ordinances to councils with an affirmative recommendation.

The First National bank, which is one of the old city depositories knocked out by the finance committee, sent a check for $200 to Mayor Hays yesterday for the Fourth of July fund. This is half of the total amount that has been raised to date.

WILL SOON TAKE OVER BANK'S COAL LANDS

Union Coal Mining Company to Be Formed and Purchase Washington Co. Acreage.

Application will be made, as soon as the legal time requirements for advertising can be met, for a charter for the coal company which is to take over the land owned by the defunct State bank, Bloomfield. The company will be called the Union Coal Mining Company. The charter will be secured with a nominal capitalization, which will, in due course, be increased to $300,000, the value at which the land and plant is placed.

The land comprises a large tract of the Pittsburg vein lying in Cross Creek township, Washington county, between the Wabash and Panhandle railroads. The State bank had paid part of the purchase money for this property. The rest will be paid by the stockholders of the new concern. The plan has the approval of Receiver John F. Steel of the bank, who finds in this way a method of clearing up the accounts of the bank in the matter.

A large number of the depositors of the State bank, who will soon receive a dividend on their deposits, have already subscribed for the stock of the coal company, to be taken in lieu of the cash payment of the receiver in settlement of the amounts the bank owes them. In some cases the depositors have added still more money to that coming from the settlement with the bank, believing that the coal concern is a good investment.

The directors of the company named in the application for a charter will be N. F. Sanford, J. N. Armstrong, M. F. Sullivan, D. R. Evans and John W. Bolleau, the last being the promoter of the company.

TO CONSIDER ARCHITECTS.

"Tech" Committee Has Twenty-Five More Applicants to Pass Upon.

The Carnegie Institute committee on techical schools, which has charge of the new "Tech," will meet this afternoon to pass upon the applications of about 25 additional architects who have applied for admission to the competition on planning the structures.

Already about 20 of the leading architects of the country have accepted admissions to the competition and many of them have started work on the plans. This number includes the five architects who are working under special commission and are paid for their work.

Director Arthur A. Hamerschlag of the "Tech" is preparing a careful report to the committee regarding the work which should be conducted during the coming winter by the schools. This will take up the subject of lecture courses, night classes, etc.

More Charges Against Agent.

C. C. Cardell, an employment agent, arrested Monday on a complaint of M. K. Lefler, a locomotive engineer, charging him with receiving money under false pretense, will be arraigned for a hearing next Tuesday. Four more charges of false pretense have been lodged against him. The detectives have over 25 complaints against Cardell, alleging he agreed to secure men positions and failed to do so.

$40.00 and $50.00 Shirtwaist Suits Today for $20.00
$50.00 to $75.00 Shirtwaist Suits Today for $25.00

Somewhat astonishing, those underprices, aren't they? But no more so than you'll find the suits when you see them. Made by a noted French dressmaker who opened shop in New York. Our buyer found him willing to let his stock go for singularly small prices and we closed with him with the well-known Pittsburg quickness.

There are all sizes from 34 up, and the trimmings are varied—embroideries, laces, French knots, pleats and hand-embroidered designs. The linen in these suits is as good as flax itself.

Finest English Percale at 12½c a yard From 35c.

We bought 3,200 yards to sell at the 12½c figure, and consider it one of the greatest offerings in this sale. Not only is it a percale of great excellence, but it is full 36 inches wide. The colorings are the choicest; pink, light blue, red, navy and black grounds, with white polka dot printings; also white grounds with various size hairline stripes printed in various pretty colors.

Just what mothers want for children's tub dresses—also in great demand for men's and boys' Negligee Shirts.

See this material in West Store, center aisle.

Seasonable Suggestions Pertaining to the Kitchen.

One of the most necessary things pertaining to the kitchen and indispensable to it in hot weather is refrigerators. Now we have many lines of high-class refrigerators, but recommend the Eddy refrigerators, as they seem to meet the popular demand as to price. As you only buy a refrigerator once in a lifetime, let it be a good one by all means.

At $90.00 we are showing an Eddy that will hold 500 pounds of ice—constructed in the most thorough and substantial manner, and so arranged that milk and butter can be kept in entirely different compartments. Then by easy steps they descend in price and capacity to a size with 15-pound ice capacity.

As to little things that come in handy in the summer time, any number of them—

Fruit and Wine Presses, the most satisfactory of their kind at $3.00.
Ice Grinders—a good one at $3.75.

Tan Hose for Women and Children.

You all know how popular they are with the people of Pittsburg, and, indeed, the wave of their popularity seems to have swept the entire country, east and west, north and south. We daresay there isn't another store anywhere with such a comprehensive supply of various shades of tan in hosiery.

New Valenciennes Laces.

We have just received a large invoice of real French and Normandie Valenciennes laces with insertions to match. In the entire lace family there is not a more popular member than genuine Val.—it can be utilized in such a variety of ways, comes forth so nice and fresh from cleaning, and, everything considered, is the most inexpensive of laces.

From 1 to 5 inches wide, 5c, 10c, 15c, 20c and up to 75c a yard.

Nothing could be dressier or in better taste than a robe of lace or spangles, or even net. And, considering what a simple problem the making presents as compared with any other style of gown, the cost is really trifling for a fine dress.

Today half prices prevail on certain numbers—$20.00 robes $10.00; $30.00 robes, $15.00; $50.00 robes, $25.00.

Wednesday, June 8, 1904.

The Gazette desires to call the attention of those of its readers who contemplate summer trips to the announcements of the many summer resort hotels published on page 12 of this issue.

There is a promise of some trouble over the selection of city depositories. Apparently there is no objection to the banks selected, but only to the method of making the selections. For this there is some ground. However, the main point is to have good, sound depositories where the money of the city will be safe and where the public interest will be given fair consideration. If this object is attained it does not matter so much whether the names of the depositories are drawn from a hat, or whether they be chosen by ballot at the general election. There is little possibility in this city of the selection of a bank that is not perfectly safe.

A meeting of the Carnegie institute committee on technical schools will be held today to consider applications of 25 architects who desire to submit plans for the new institution. The applications of 30 architects have been accepted and filed and the prospect is that more than 50 of the foremost architects in this country will be in the competition. This should assure the very best that can be had in plans and designs for the technical group, thus putting the buildings on a plane with the magnificent conception of the work to be performed by the schools. Pittsburgh will certainly have cause to be proud of this newest addition to its educational institutions.

Cossacks raiding between Anju and Kaio-Chau are killing the natives and looting their homes. Previous information from Korea and Manchuria have told of similar outrages upon the natives. The acts of Russian officials in their own European provinces lend color of plausibility to these reports. The knout for a peasant and Siberian exile for political offenders are common. Too little value is placed upon the lives of citizens in Russia to expect that the lives of "natives"—a term always used in such connection with a sneer—would be respeted by an army of occupation. This is one of the reasons that Russia has so few friends abroad. She is termed a civilized nation, but her barbarities have appalled th world.

It has finally been decided that Pittsburgh will entertain the Philippine commission which will arrive on the morning of June 27 and depart on the evening of the 28th. The question of finances has not been fully disposed of, but funds will be forthcoming. Citizens and manufacturers will participate in the entertainment of the Filipinos, so the bill of the city is not likely to be very large. The time is short in which to prepare a program and perfect details of the arrangements for showing the visitors as much a possible in the most effective way, and n this the chamber of commerce and the new Merchants and Manufacturers' association may assist materially. In any event the commission must be well received and properly entertained as becomes Pittsburgh's wide reputation for hospitality.

Returns from the Oregon state and congressional elections on Monday, are now coming in freely and indicate a Republican majority of at least 20,000. This is the largest majority in the history of the far northwest state and is significant of the state of public sentiment in the country. It is not to be wondered at that Republicanism is dominant, for it means positive and progressive policies and care for the public welfare. The Democracy is hopelessly divided on the eve of its national convention, as to whether it shall stand for free trade or free silver, both equally obnoxious to the public sense of good policy. It is united in the cry against the trusts, but its record is one of words without deeds. The Republican party enacted a law to restrain monopoly which lay as a dead letter during Democratic administration, but became active and of force in the hands of a Republican executive. This is a characteristic difference between the parties and Oregon is first to speak out.

The Democratic situation will not be helped by the action of New York City leaders who have called a convention to be held in Cooper Union June 18 "to protest against the action of the Albany convention," and to send a delegation of Democrats to St. Louis to protest to the national convention against Judge Parker, the New York state platform and the leadership of the "Hill-Belmont-McCarren combination." The Democracy needs New York state to win, and the state cannot be secured without the aid of Tammany. Of course, the proposed anti-Parker convention is backed by Tammany and particularly by Charles F. Murphy, its leader, who has a personal and political feud to settle with Hill and McCarren. With such opposition in his own state Judge Parker can expect less aid from other states. The troubles of the Democracy are increasing as the time for the St. Louis convention approaches.

Oil Production and Price.

Another cut was made in the price of oil yesterday following an interview from a Standard Oil Company official on the Kansas fields. Undoubtedly Kansas is prepared to produce more oil if it can find a market for it, and it is now piling up surplus stocks at the rate of several thousands of barrels daily. The Kansas oil is inferior to that of Pennsylvania, but it yields a percentage of good illuminant, so its surplus is a depressant factor.

Texas, however, is a bigger bear than Kansas. Its Corsicana field produces petroleum of a grade almost equal to that of Neodesha. The Beaumont oil is of small value except for fuel purposes, but the tremendous productiveness of the wells makes conservative drilling profitable at very low prices. The Batson Prairie field combines the fair quality of the Corsicana product and the enormous yield of Spindle Top heights, which makes it a factor in the situation of the first magnitude.

Fortunately the petroleum business is not, as formerly, sensitive to every new development. It has become a stable industry, without speculation. Large companies control to such an extent that excesses such as marked the earlier years are no longer possible. The uses of oil are steadily increasing, so that developments indicating great excess of production do not depress prices below the cost of producing. Fields may be held back until their yield is needed. Nevertheless, the steady downward course of the market during the past six months is due to conditions that must be recognized. The preceding advance was based upon realization that the New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio and West Virginia fields could no longer keep pace with increasing consumption. The decline is the admission that Kansas and Texas with their inferior oils must be considered as factors in the general situation.

The Liberty Bell.

The progress of the Liberty bell through the west proves that Americans still love the traditions of our glorious past, and far from the least among those honored traditions is the story of the clanging of the old bell on Independence morning to announce the signing of the solemn declaration of rights. At Dubuque, Ia., yesterday, for instance, 20,000 people gathered at the depot and reverently awaited the coming of the train bearing this bell. Its arrival was greeted with tumultuous cheering. And the same scene has been enacted at every station along the route from Philadelphia. Today the bell will arrive in St. Louis and hundreds of thousands will have an opportunity to pay it a reverent visit during the summer. On the day of its arrival, the school children will be admitted to the grounds free of charge, and they will then have an early opportunity to view this relic so intimately associated with the birth of the nation.

The United States is a young nation, yet in its life of but 128 years it has gathered many patriotic traditions that should be cherished in the breasts of coming generations. The Liberty bell is but one of these. It is emblematic of an epoch—our greatest epoch—when lives were freely sacrificed that the greatest nation of the world should be erected in the western hemisphere. Perhaps the army and the leaders of the colonies did not then realize the greatness their heroism and self-denial were to produce in after years, but they were instilled with that patriotic devotion to home and country that soon made a young and struggling nation the wonder of the world. It was the same patriotism that imbued the hearts of the soldiers of the War of 1812, when the life of the young nation was at stake, the same patriotism that won later glorious battles and that built up a strong nation and a beneficient government by conquering the plains and wilderness of the west.

So long as we take pride in our institutions, just so long will we be a nation of patriots, and for so long will the love of home and country keep our government in the right paths. We need the heart throbs that come at sight of the Liberty bell. And the more of our people who see it, the stronger will be the country's patriotism.

The Vaunted Cossacks.

Some people persist in being surprised by the developments of the war in the far east. They have been surprised by everything from the Japanese naval success at Port Arthur to the crossing of the Yalu and the storming of Nanshan heights. Their latest surprise is found in the fact that the much vaunted Cossacks are unable to overwhelm the undersized Japanese infantry men. They had evidently expected the precisely opposite results. Yet there has not been a development of the war that had not been foreshadowed in past military experience.

Taking the case of the Cossacks first, because it is the latest "surprise." The British in South Africa confessed the utter inefficiency of cavalry to meet modern conditions. The Boers were mounted, it is true, but they never fought as cavalry. Horses were employed to enhance the mobility of their columns only. Military experts who observed the fighting among the kopjes and on the veldt wrote tomes upon the utility of "mounted infantry" and Gen. Lord Roberts organized mounted infantry to meet the Boers upon their own ground. The modern, long range rifle is not a cavalry weapon and in a charge upon fortified positions cavalry regiments are handicapped by fallen horses in front, long before they can approach close enough to drive terror to the defenders' hearts.

Infantry may creep upon a defending force. The men may fall prostrate to avoid heavy fire, rise and proceed again. Cossacks may also go down and order their horses down, but sharpshooters can pick off the prostrate horses a mile away. They can find no cover, like men, behind a stone or tree, or in a slight depression. The 2,000-yard rifle in expert hands is merciless. The famed Cossacks might be as terrible as they have been painted in a charge if ever they could get close enough to drive it home.

Returning to the Japanese strategy, it was clearly displayed in the war with China. It was so skillful that the world thought the Chinese simply had neither ability nor courage, so easily were they overcome. In that war, too, the Japanese demonstrated their mastery of the arts of naval warfare. Their torpedoes were as deadly then as now; their gun fire as rapid and as accurate. If anything in this war has been surprising it has been the weakness of Russian preparation. Her generals were credited with high ability, but they have planned badly and their execution has been slovenly.

The Presidential Term.

A movement has been started by the National Business league to secure an amendment to the Constitution providing for the election of the president of the United States for a term of six years and to confine him to one term in office. The object, as stated, is to "promote the general welfare," and the argument is that the proposed system will prevent the frequent disturbance of business by the periodical struggles for political control of the national government. This is not a new proposition, but it comes this time under more formidable auspices than ever before. The proponents admit no possibility that they can be mistaken in their conclusions.

Some years ago when the same idea was brought forward it met with vigorous opposition on the ground that it would defeat its own object. One writer collated statistics and data to show that the quadrennial campaign for governor of Pennsylvania created far more disturbance than the annual contests in Massachusetts. He deduced the conclusion that control for a long period being a more serious matter, created more intense feeling and caused more bitter struggles. He admitted that one year would not be enough for a president to organize his administration properly and so thought the four-year term, with privilege of re-election, the height of wisdom.

It is true that our presidential campaigns sometimes prove disastrous to business interest, though not always. There have been conspicuous exceptions to the rule. It is possible that longer periods between campaigns might make for greater stability. Yet there is some philosophy in an argument advanced upon this subject about 20 years ago. "Eight years is not too much of a thoroughly good president," said the debater, "and four years is more than enough of a bad one."

There is no indication that short stature makes slow movement when the Japanese see a body of Russians ahead of them. But when the Russians start the other way there is an indication that their longer legs are conducive to expertness in the get-away.

There's the man behind the boomlet,
And the man behind the gun,
But the man who peddles ice these days
Has the whole bunch on the run.

St. Petersburg officials are said to be uneasy because of Gen. Kuropatkin's strategy. It is the strategy of the Japanese that causes the most trouble, however.

Talked of in Gotham

By GEORGE C. JENKS.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, June 7.—Again has the autocratic janitor risen in his might. This time he is the man who looks after furnaces, yards, ice, sweeping operations and other attributes to the comfort of the teachers and pupils in public schools. It seems that janitors in the public school service in Manhattan and the Bronx receive higher wages than are given in Brooklyn and the other boroughs making up Greater New York. The president of the Janitor's council, an organization of school janitors, who looks after the interests of the guild, says that in Manhattan and the Bronx the pay is 25 per cent higher than elsewhere in the greater city. The president, whose name is Paul Ajas, has brought suit against the city of New York and the board of education to have the salaries equalized. There will be an argument on a motion for a peremptory writ of mandamus to compel the board of education to pay Ajas the increased salary.

The interest in this matter is that it shows how a demand for higher wages can be made with much more dignity than by striking in the usual way. How much better it is to apply for a writ of mandamus, as Ajas has done. He does not ask his men to refuse suddenly to carry in ice, fill up water coolers, sweep rooms, tidy up school yards, scowl at unruly boys and perform the other daily duties of their janitorships. He goes to a lawyer, has one of those ironically polite legal documents which convey all kinds of veiled threats drawn up, and leaves the rest to the courts. Whether he wins or not, he knows that he has done everything in a gentlemanly way, as befits a man of his genteel profession. There may be a bigger gentleman—in his estimation—than a New York janitor, but if there is he keeps below the surface.

Panama Hats Are Out.

Abas the Panama hat. Only a few southerners and some New Yorkers who have a $25 or $50 Panama left over from last year, are to be seen on Broadway wearing the style of summer "lid" that was so popular a year ago. Hat dealers say there is absolutely no sale for them this summer. But the straight brim "sailor," with its bumptious black ribbon and guard, has broken out into a perfect epidemic since June and the hot weather came in together.

Public Safety Not a Factor.

One of the city magistrates has made a ruling on public safety which is decidedly interesting. A contractor is digging beneath the elevated railroad at Chatham square to build one of the "public comfort" stations which are to be erected in various parts of Manhattan. A lawyer representing the "L" company told the police captain of the precinct that the digging was weakening the "L." The police captain, thinking only of the peril to human life, applied to a magistrate for a summons for the contractor, to make him explain.

Then it was that the magistrate read a lesson to that captain in professional ethics. He told him that it was the business of the railway company to make the complaint, and that he would not grant the summons to the captain. Doubtless this is good law. The question that disturbs the legally-learned citizen is whether there is not danger of the "L" structure falling down sometime, while the magistrate is making up his mind to whom he shall grant the summons.

Hard Bumps for Bookmakers.

Yeager, the plunger, has been making the "bookies" at Gravesend wonder where they are at. It seems as if this new figure among racing giants cannot lose. Wild tales of his immense winnings are wafted up and down Broadway every day, while at the corner of Forty-second street each evening the turf battles of the day are fought over again, and it seems as if everyone in the group has been a victor. One theatrical manager told me today that he had been following Yeager's play for a month, and had won steadily by backing the same horses. Any system that will enable a man to pick the winner for a month is worth knowing, and it is no wonder that everyone is trying to find out how Yeager does the trick.

Decadence of Coney Island.

There is a strong and commendable agitation for the saving of the beach at Coney Island from the rapacity of those who are at Coney for the sole purpose of squeezing as much money out of the people at large as may be. It has been declared that the whole beach has been cut up into backyards of saloons. This may be an extreme statement of the case, but certainly the beach is fenced down to low water mark in a way that prevents a free and uninterrupted walk along the strand. More than ordinary attention has been paid to Coney Island by the municipal authorities since it became part of Greater New York, and there will most likely be a leveling of fences that will please the public as much as it will disgust the owners of the groggeries.

Caused Extra Vigilance, Anyhow.

The indignant denial of the superintendent of recreation piers, one Charles A. Manly, that there is any moral peril to young girls on them, as Father Curry of St. James' church has said, was inevitable. The position of superintendent is a nice little Tammany office, with a comfortable salary, and you cannot blame the incumbent for "getting red-headed" as his friends put it, when he is charged with neglecting his duties. For that is what Father Curry's criticisms mean. Mr. Manly says the piers are policed, and there are male and female attendants as well, to keep order. All the same, Father Curry may be credited with the extra vigilance manifest at these recreation places since he uttered his anathema.

Great Waste of Strawberries.

Fourteen thousand crates of strawberries were sent to the garbage heap in this city today. They were picked in Jersey on Saturday in a rainstorm, stood in freight cars in the broiling sun of Sunday, and when opened yesterday were found to be decidedly off in quality. The chief fruit inspector of the board of health condemned them peremptorily and strawberries will be higher in price until the next consignment comes in. Inspectors are obliged to be vigilant in such uncertain weather as at present. A heavy rain will play havoc with many kinds of fruit, but especially with strawberries.

Fireman May Make Music.

The gentle booming of the bass drum, blended with the plaintive wail of the accordion and the strains of the jewsharp and the mouth organ, will soon make the various fire engine houses of the city as attractive to the children as was the mountainside through which the pied piper conducted his followers. Fire Chief Croker has decided that the firemwen have too little recreation and has issued an order which provides that they may play musical instruments when such playing does not interfere with duty. So in a short time we may expect to hear in the intervals of fighting fires, symphonies coming from the fire houses, and Damrosch, Sousa, Creatore and fellows of that sort will have to look to their laurels. Calliopes and pianos are barred and hand-organs are also ruled off.

The Quiet Observer

By ERASMUS WILSON.

Master of Human destinies am I!
Fame, love and fortune on my footsteps wait.
Cities and fields I walk; I penetrate
Deserts and fields remote, and, passing by
Hovel and mart and palace, soon or late,
I knock unbidden once at every gate.
If sleeping, wake; if feasting, rise before
I turn away. It is the hour of fate,
And they who follow me reach every state
Mortals desire, and conquer every foe
Save death; but those who doubt or hesitate,
Condemn to failure, penury or woe,
Seek me in vain and uselessly implore—
I answer not, and return no more.
—John J. Ingalls.

And that is Opportunity.

It comes once to all, but lingers not for any. Ever passing but never waiting, it moves on tirelessly and steadily, sleeping not, nor dashing madly from those who would embrace it.

Opportunity does not present itself in the same form and manner identically time and again, but varied to suit the times and conditions.

There will never be an opportunity for another Washington or another Lincoln. The conditions that made them possible can never occur again, for they belonged to times that can never return, nor ever repeat themselves.

If you are waiting for the same opportunity that made any man great in the past your waiting will be in vain and your life wasted. These embraced the opportunity that comes but once.

Opportunities for doing something worth while are continually passing your way.

There will ever be those who are equal to any emergency or their times, as there have ever been Washingtons and Lincolns and Grants. Not that they were born to meet any particular emergency to arise at any particular time but were so born that they would fit some particular niche, or opportunity.

Had certain special opportunities not been presented George Washington would only have been known as a respectable Virginia farmer, Lincoln as a clever lawyer and Grant as a rather indifferent business man.

There are more Washingtons, Lincolns and Grants now than ever before, but the necessary opportunities are not present to develop them and to bring them into prominence.

Have you ever though how well the world is supplied with material for any and all right purposes and uses?

If a sacrifice is necessary there is one ready, as was the ram in the bushes when Abraham felt that a blood sacrifice was demanded, even if it should be his favorite son.

In our army when calls have been made for volunteers to undertake extra hazardous missions have ever been responded to by many more than were needed, and those turned back were really disappointed.

It was ever thus, and ever thus it will be while man exists and God reigns.

* * * * *

He is the wiser man who has learned to recognize his opportunity at a glance. It may not be particularly inviting at first, but by cultivating it he sees more clearly that there is something in it.

Men and women who turn out to be most worthy of the greater opportunities are not the most attractive at first sight, but they improve on acquaintance.

If you will review the lives of those whose opportunities have enabled to become great or famous you will see that they were prepared to do their parts well. Had they not been they could not have succeeded.

How many there are whose ambition was to lead the Union army on to Richmond. But they were lacking in some essential element, particularly that of patience. They had the courage and the dash, but not the serious, unselfish purpose and persistence that characterized Grant.

And how the patient, hopeful, humane Lincoln was nagged and pestered and bullied, because he would not fume and rage and plunge like great leaders pictured in fiction. He simply could not do so and be true to his convictions. Nor was such conduct either demanded or suggested by the opportunity offered to win immortal fame.

So he bided his time, doing in season that which the season required.

* * * * *

We often hear great, or highly successful men; spoken of as accidents.

Accidents of this kind never happen, at least hardly ever, and should one happen it is not for long. Only the real thing lives and prospers.

Do you imagine that it was an accident that made Col. Quay one of the greatest politicians of his day? Was the masterfulness of Mark Hanna an accident, or the result of accident?

They were what they were because of their fitness to improve, and to make the best of the opportunities offered—offered to you and to every other man in the nation. They simply did what you wouldn't or couldn't do, and did it so well that their work commanded the attention of the world, and respectful attention, too.

The fact that good men differed with them does not prove them to have been in the wornng, while their success proved them to have been mainly right.

* * * * *

You may have been surprised, as were many others, upon learning that Col. Quay was not only a graduate of Jefferson college, but a lifelong student, a reader of best books and good literature, besides an earnest admirer of the great poets.

You may have thought that being a politician he was a rounder, or a sort of boss, among political rounders. This idea is apt to be suggested when politician is mentioned.

No political rounder ever continued through two score years of constant service and at the last stood higher than at any other period in his career. Nor is it possible for any man in political or social life to be held up by personal and selfish friends for so long a time.

Col. Quay was eminently fitted for his mission, not only by his natural talent, but by his early training, his education, and his untiring industry. These were each and everyone a potent element of success.

But along with these he possessed the ability to grasp a situation; that is, he was able to recognize opportunity, which, with his courage and fine discipline, he was able to improve to the best advantage.

* * * * *

And you may have been surprised to learn that Mark Hanna was the gentlest of men, possessing refined tastes, and withal most humane, as was willingly attested by the thousands of workmen directly or indirectly in his employ at the time of his death.

It is an old saying that you must fight fire with fire, but it is not good policy to do so as long as other means are available.

Neither Quay nor Hanna ever indulged in mud-throwing, no matter how much was thrown at them. Nor did they waste good energy in efforts to create dissensions in the ranks of their opponents, but expended it in equipping and encouraging their own forces.

Nor did they wait until their opponents had laid out campaigns, but boldly took the lead, thereby cutting out the work for those who were to oppose them. They not only controlled campaigns, but they made them, and that in spite of their opponents.

The successful general is the one who can compel his enemy to fight when and where it suits him best. When he sees an opportunity to command his opposing forces as well as his own, he improves it to the fullest extent, and that means success.

Political Drift

The deadlock in the Illinois Republican convention has been broken and a ticket has been nominated. There has been the appearance of harmony. Yates pulled out of the race and joined other candidates throwing the principal prize to Deneen, and Mr. Lowden, who ran through many ballots almost even with Yates, and who must feel about as cheerful as the chief mourner at a funeral, made a speech in which he asserted his adhesion to the result and promised to be active in the campaign. This counts for but very little in politics, however. It is merely airy surface persiflage to deceive the groundlings. * * * There is an acknowledgment of the troubled condition of Illinois Republican politics in the frequent suggestion of Illinois men for the vice presidency. Illinois has come to be looked upon as the principal doubtful western state. Wisconsin appears, too, with a bitter factional warfare. It is, of course, assumed that the contention between the LaFollette and Spooner wings is not to affect Republican loyalty to the presidential ticket; but there is no politician smart enough to tell how much danger of a general character there is. Meanwhile, the country will not forget the relations of Illinois and Wisconsin to the great Democratic groundswell of 1892—Cincinnati Enquirer (Dem.).

Mayor McClellan persists in saying that he cannot talk politics, since all his time and strength are taken up in giving the city a good administration. This might pass, were it not the fact that ducks and drakes are being made of good administration, under his very eye, and that in the avowed name of politics. Does the mayor know that certain of his heads of department are playing fast and loose with the offices at their disposal? Cannot he see, what is evident to everyone else, that important positions are used merely as so many clubs and daggers in a political fight? There is no pretense of consulting the good of the service. One man is removed and another appointed merely as moves in the war of rival factions. It will not do for the mayor to profess ignorance, or to wrap himself in an Olympian calm. The public service is being prostituted. His heads of department are lending themselves to the basest kind of political warfare. Municipal business necessarily suffers. It is for the mayor to put a stop to the scandal. He should at once serve notice that further removals from office purely for factional reasons will result in the removal of the man making them.—New York Post (Ind.).

Congress is evidently going to have a strong hand in the Republican national convention. In Indiana the delegates-at-large comprise the two senators, the governor and the chairman of the state central committee. From Ohio will be the governor, two senators and George B. Cox, the local party manager of Cincinnati. Iowa sends her governor, two senators and Secretary of the Treasury Shaw. New Jersey will be represented by Gov. Murphy, Senators Kean and Dryden and David Baird. Massachusetts forms a notable exception. Gov. Gaston and Senator Hoar are left off and in their stead are ex-Gov. Crane and John D. Long, ex-secretary of the navy. Senator Lodge and Everett C. Benton are the other two. The absence of Senator Hoar, who has always been prominent in national conventions, will recall the incident of his resolution of inquiry as to the president's action in the Panama matter last winter, while Mr. Long's presence will be a reminder that when President Roosevelt succeeded to his present position he found Mr. Long secretary of the navy, but displaced him with ex-Congressman Moody. The Illinois delegation comprises Gov. Yates, the two senators and Speaker Cannon, who is slated to preside over the convention.—Louisville Courier Journal (Dem.).

The address of the secretary of the treasury in Wilmington last night dealt with a topic that will be much discussed during the presidential campaign. He was speaking to the Roosevelt Workingmen's club, and he took up the subject of wages and living expenses. Very happy was he in drawing the line between the Republican and Democratic parties in his remark that Republican policies reduce the occasion for almsgiving to a minimum, while those of the Democrats, when put in operation, never fail to produce conditions which incite sympathy. The Democrats never rejoice. They always bemoan and seldom cheer except at the prospect of something worse. Secretary Shaw warned his hearers that they would listen during the canvass to arguments on the part of the Democrats directed against alleged unreasonable living expenses. They would be told that prices were high and that everything had been unduly advanced. He promised them that figures would show when compiled later on that the average wages have increased in larger proportion than the average articles of ordinary household consumption. But the main point that he made was that constant employment at reasonable wages, even in the face of high living expenses, is preferable to employment for only a portion of the people, though at the same wage, but at much reduced living expense.—Philadelphia Inquirer (Rep.).

If the supporters of Mr. Hearst carry the contest for their favorite to the floor of the St. Louis convention and fight to the bitter end, that assembly will doubtless be called upon to interpret the unit rule, one of the Democratic traditions which has been followed with few lapses since the first Democratic convention was held in 1832. The unit rule is an essential corallary of the two-thirds rule. It has been said that if the two-thirds rule were to be abrogated while the unit rule prevails, a few of the large states, though their delegations may be nearly evenly divided, may, by enforcing the unit rule, secure a majority of the convention for a candidate whom only a minority of the delegates favor. The two-thirds rule lessens the probability of such action. If, therefore, there is a close contest in the national convention, the unit rule and the extent of its application will become a matter of the greatest importance. Control of the organization is a smaller factor in a Democratic than in a Republican convention because the authority of the chairman is not supreme and any matter of procedure, in case of conflict, is referred to the convention for a decision. But a well qualified chairman will be a potent influence in directing action and in the event of a close contest, it will be interesting to note how the diverse methods pursued by the different states in selecting and instructing delegates will be reconciled.—Detroit Free Press (Ind.-Dem.).

With the Democratic national convention to be held a month hence the canvass for the nomination daily becomes more interesting and apparently more uncertain. The Parker movement, so promising two months ago, has not developed as was expected. During last week there were conferences of certain state leaders whose evident purpose is to turn the convention away from Parker. There are two weak points in this movement. It has been participated in only by Gorman, who controls 16 votes of Maryland; Guffey, who can cast the 68 of Pennsylvania; Smith, who is understood to be able to manage the 24 of New Jersey, and Murphy, the Tammany leader, who will have no votes whatever. Guffey vehemently disclaims having committed himself, though Tammany authority declares that he has. It is notable that states like Ohio and Michigan, with large uninstructed delegations, were not represented at these conferences. The other weak point is that those who are evidently seking to break down Parker, largely on account of his wicked partner, Hill, have no candidate upon which they are agreed. Their undertaking so far is a negative one, and that is not one to carry great strength with it.—Philadelphia Press (Rep.).

James Wilson, secretary of agriculture, passed through Pittsburgh last night on the Pennsylvania limited on his way from Washington to his home in Iowa. His principal mission to the west is to inspect the crops. "According to the reports I have received," said Secretary Wilson, "the crops have increased extraordinarily during the past 30 days. Corn and oats promises to yield abundantly this season. Less wheat was planted this year than formerly. The barometer of agriculture of the United States lies in corn and cotton. The crops of these two products are in excellent condition, despite the many rains, which have a tendency to rot the corn stalks." Politically speaking, he said: "The west will undoubtedly go solidly for Roosevelt. He will enjoy a landslide, as the people do not want a repetition of the depression felt during 1902. After the summer months I think there will be a general revival of business throughout the country. Exportations of cereals from this season's crops will surpass any previous record."

WYMAN'S FEARS SAID TO BE VAIN

North Side Republican Primaries Will Be Held as Usual in January.

WOODBURN GIVES REASONS

Mayor Wyman in Philadelphia intimated yesterday that the Republican organization of Allegheny city might perhaps hold the councilmanic primaries in October, and that such a shift would result in a bitter fight between the Republicans and the Wyman machine. So far as can be learned there is nothing to warrant the belief that such action is contemplated by the Republican party managers.

It is asserted by prominent Republicans that the primaries will be held as usual in January, and that under the party rules the former workers and followers of the Citizens party, who support the Republican ticket in the fall, will be qualified to participate in the Republican primaries and election next spring. The suggestion of Wyman's that the date for the primaries would be set forward to October, for the purpose of squeezing out him and his machine, is said to have been prompted by the fear on his part that such a contingency might arise.

Dr. Samuel S. Woodburn, one of the executive board of the Allegheny Republican city committee, said:

"This talk of changing the date of the primaries is absurd. Such a thing was never mentioned in our organization, and that is where it would likely get its start if such a thing were contemplated. The Republican organization has nothing to fear from the participation of former Citizens in the Republican primaries next spring. Our rules protect us at every point that seems vulnerable to those who have been fighting the Republican party and who hope to have a voice in its management after the presidential election.

"No doubt many of the councilmen elected almost two years past on the Citizens' ticket will desire re-election and attempt to get on the Republican city ticket. Whether they will be permitted to is something that is to be decided entirely by the Republican executive board. We take the position that members of councils elected as Citizens candidates will still be Citizens at the time of the primaries, as their terms do not expire until the following April. During their term of office they are to be regarded as Citizens and representatives of that party. They will not be allowed on the Republican ticket unless it is decided by the executive board of our organization that they are fit candidates. A resolution to that effect, that shall be an amendment to the rules, will be presented at the next meeting of the city committee.

"It is provided in the rules that the names of candidates can be refused by the ward executive committe for reasons given in writing. The prospective candidate may appeal in writing to the city executive committee. The chairman of the city committee refers the appeal to the executive board, whose decision in the premises shall be final. This will keep off the ticket persons whose party fealty is doubted, and you may be sure each candidate will be thoroughly scanned before his name goes on the ticket. You can't get around this rule, so it would be foolishness to hold the primaries at any but the regular time. It is true that persons who voted the Republican ticket at the last preceding state or national election shall be qualified to vote at the Republican primaries, but this does not mean that any one can enter the primaries as a candidate."

CHARGES ARE NOT TRUE SO MISS ECKER ASSERTS

Marriage License Taken Out by Her and Dangerfield Still in Register's Hands.

Register G. H. Stengel is still holding the marriage license returned to him by L. Lewis Dangerfield and Miss Regina Ecker, who had decided not to marry just yet. The license is marked "unexecuted" on the docket, but that does not mean that it may not still be used by the young couple. As to what their intentions are they decline to say.

Miss Ecker and Mr. Dangerfield referred inquirers yesterday to their attorney, Warner Marshall. Mr. Marshall said that Miss Ecker, through him, desired to say that the charges upon which she was twice arrested at the instance of S. S. Leslie were not true, and that when she appealed the fine in the minor case to court and showed herself ready to meet the other charge by quirting trial, the cases were settled at the request of the prosecutor. Neither of the two young people, Mr. Marshall said, had a further statement to make at the present time.

Miss Ecker was quoted yesterday as admitting that she and Dangerfield had signed the application for a marriage license in Alderman Walker's office, and as saying she was not yet ready to explain Dangerfield's reason for returning the license.

Mr. Marshall was quoted as saying that the couple took out the license by affidavit, desiring to be married without publicity, but when the fact became known inquiry was made and they found the marriage would be an affair of prominence, therefore they decided not to get married just then. Thinking it was obligatory to return the license, they did so, thus causing more notoriety.

BUY A PIECE OF THE MARVEL CITY
ECONOMY
WHILE YOU CAN GET IT AT ORIGINAL PRICES.

Let Uncle Sam Help You:

There is one thing about Economy real estate that makes it without question a wonderful mail-order proposition.

Not a lot in either the Orchard Plan or the Old Village is unequal in topography to any other lot. All the lots are level and all are improved with sewerage, sand-filtered water, etc., while Merchant Street, the business highway, will be paved for a mile, its entire length, without cost to the purchasers.

The active business man who lives far from the Pittsburgh district, and would like to make an investment by mail in this rising city if he could be assured of equitable treatment, will gain much by looking up the standing of the corporations which are backing this coming third-largest industrial center of Western Pennsylvania, and then make inquiry as to what are the best locations remaining unsold.

At this writing we could offer you a location opposite that on which the First National Bank is to be erected, across from hotel property that was sold to Jacob Reiss, of Economy, for $35,000, and directly in front of an entire square bought by Mr. P. J. Reilly, of the East End, Pittsburgh, for $25,000. We also have some choice spots within one to three squares of where these splendid sales were made at $625 to $1,250. Any person who knows the Real Estate Trust Company will feel no risk in purchasing by mail any of these unsold sites, but you must remember that you will have to act quickly. Send at once for map and detailed information.

Terms are 10 per cent down, or 15 per cent off for cash when paid within thirty days.

We need not tell you what the mile of bridge works that the American Bridge Company has established here will do for the town. You know the sort of a city which 8,000 bridge-workers will be instrumental in creating. And the bridge works will be but one of a number of Economy's industries.

Even now 1,600 of the 2,000 men already employed at Economy have to live five to seventeen miles from their work, because dwellings cannot be erected rapidly enough to accommodate them. Seven-room dwellings are renting at $45 a month, and some of the storekeepers who have located here have already cleared more than their entire investments amounted to.

FIGHT AGAINST P.R.R. TO CEASE

Report That Rockefeller's Plan for a Tidewater Line Has Been Changed.

ATTITUDE IS NOT UNFRIENDLY

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU, Herald Building, Herald Square. NEW YORK, June 7.

Through the intercession of the Rockefellers and a New York banking house a step has been taken in railway matters that tends to establish a permanent peace in Pennsylvania railroad territory.

A. J. Cassatt, president of the Pennsylvania railroad, said today that no agreement had been made between his company and the Rockefellers by which the projected tidewater railroad was to be abandoned, but New York financiers familiar with the railroad situation in the southeast, say that negotiations have been completed by which the original plan of the tidewater line will be radically changed.

This tidewater scheme has been regarded as a factor in the alleged Gould-Rockefeller fight against the Pennsylvania railroad. Under a charter procured by the Richmond & Tidewater Railroad Company it was proposed to build a line parallel to the Norfolk & Western from the Pocahontas coal fields to the Atlantic ocean. The Norfolk & Western is controlled by the Pennsylvania railroad and Mr. Cassatt and his friends have been watching developments in the tidewater scheme with much interest. A short time ago evidences appeared that Standard Oil interests were back of the tidewater project.

An officer of the Norfolk & Western said today that it was quite likely that the tidewater line would be built, but he was convinced that it would not be unfriendly or detrimental to either the Norfolk & Western or the Chesapeake & Ohio.

This friendly adjustment of relations, it is believed, was made through the personal mediation of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., and it indicates that the Standard Oil interest is not disposed to fight the Pennsylvania railroad. This is said to be the first step toward a general railway peace in the territory which for so long has been monopolized by Pennsylvania railroad interests.

The Rockefellers are credited with the declaration that existing business conditions necessitated the immediate cessation of railroad warfare.

CHURCH NEARLY PAID FOR.

Claysville Presbyterians Rejoicing at Success in Securing Funds.

CLAYSVILLE, PA., June 7.—(Special.)—The Presbyterian church of this place is rejoicing over the prospect of their beautiful new church being all paid for. At the dedication, on May 15, there was a debt of $5,000. A quiet canvass has been going on since, and $3,000 have already been subscribed, with the remaining $2,000 in sight.

The building is pronounced one of the handsomest and most convenient churches in this part of the state. The building committee has broken the record by keeping well within the limit set them, $20,000. Including the carpet, pulpit suite, Sunday school chairs, bell, pipe organ and other furnishings, the church has cost about $25,000. The report published recently in a Pittsburgh paper that Mrs. Thaw gave half the cost of the organ was entirely untrue, as that generous woman has not contributed anything whatever, either to the organ or the church.

Special features of the new church are the tablet in memory of the Rev. Thomas Hogg, the memorial window for the Rev. Dr. Alexander McCurrel and his wife, the Hetty Hope Patterson parlor, and the memorial window for the 16 ministerial sons of the church.

NEWSPAPER ITEM UNITES FAMILY AFTER 17 YEARS

Mrs. Adolph Neeland of Eva Street Reads About Letter to Mayor from Her Relatives.

Philomena Gelm, now Mrs. Adolph Neeland, who lives in the 5600 block of Eva street, will be again put in touch with her sister and brothers in Germany, as the result of a newspaper story. About a week ago Mayor Hays received a letter from the fatherland asking him to locate Miss Gelm, from whom her relatives had not heard for 17 years. The publication of the fact that such a letter had been received brought Miss Gelm, or, rather, Mrs. Neeland, to his honor's office yesterday with the clipping. She looked carefully over the letter which Mayor's Clerk Walter Black showed her and was convinced of its genuineness.

KNOXVILLE HOUSE ROBBED.

Young Girl Is Suspected of Taking Valuables During Family's Absence.

Through an investigation begun on Monday to learn what had become of food prepared for dinner last Sunday, Mrs. Daniel Brennan, wife of the assistant superintendent of the Jones & Laughlins Steel Company, discovered her home had been robbed of two rings and a scarf pin during her absence from the house on Sunday afternoon. One of the rings contained two diamond settings and the other an emerald setting. The jewelry has not yet been recovered and no arrests have been made.

Mr. Brennan's home is at 211 Knox avenue, Knoxville, and it is believed the robbery was committed by a girl, aged 18, who was formerly employed in the neighborhood as a domestic. It is alleged the suspected girl had been on friendly terms with the domestic at Mr. Brennan's home and visited the house frequently. It is said the girl has no home and has been allowed to sleep in the kitchen by the Brennans on occasions. Monday morning, it is alleged, the girl's coat was found in the kitchen, but nothing was thought of the matter till Mrs. Brennan asked her servant what had become of the food for Sunday's dinner. The girl denied having touched it. Sunday was her day off and she had not eaten at the house.

Mrs. Brennan then suspected some one had gotten into the house, and on going to her room discovered the jewelry was missing, although more valuables kept in a dresser drawer had not been disturbed. About $20 was also taken. It is believed by the Brennan family that entrance to the house was effected by way of a cellar window, as muddy shoe prints were found on the window sill and the robbery occurred after the heavy rain.

WILL AGREE ON SCALE.

Probable Outcome of Conference Between Iron Men and Amalgamatel.

CAMBRIDGE SPRINGS, PA., June 7.—(Special.)—Individual conferences between the iron manufacturers and members of the Amalgamated association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers here today resulted in no adjustment of the bar iron scale. There were nine conferences between the parties as organized committees.

The conferences will be resumed tomorrow. Representing the manufacturers are E. Watson, J. E. Caldwell, W. L. Simonton and Charles Hart. Many members of the Amalgamated association are already here and more are expected to arrive tomorrow. It is understood that the representatives of the Amalgamated will agree to accept a reduction of 10 per cent on the sheet steel and tinplate scale of 1903-1904. The union mills are now operating under a reduction of 18 per cent from the old scale.

Voted $100,000 for Strike.

SYDNEY, B. C., June 7.—At a meeting of the sub-council of the Provincial Workingmen a resolution was voted to raise $100,000 for the purpose of carrying on the strike at the Dominion Iron and Steel works here.

RECOVERS $404,000 ON SHIPBUILDING STOCK

Court Holds Trust Company Responsible for Contract to Dispose of Securities.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, June 7.—Justice Leventritt of the supreme court today handed down a decision which is of importance because it defines certain powers of trust companies in the value of the securities of the United States Shipbuilding Company.

The case was that of Harry T. Gause against the Commonwealth Trust Company of New York, a corporation which used to be known as the Trust Company of the Republic. On August 28, 1902, Mr. Gause gave into the care of the Trust Company all the bonds and stock which he owned in the United States Shipbuilding Company, with the understanding that they were to dispose of them for him.

The trust company, it is charged, agreed on its part to see that he should receive some $404,000 by the end of one year. When the shipbuilding company went into the hands of a receiver and the value of the securities was cut down the trust company, it is alleged, refused to carry out its contract. When the case was tried the trust company set up the allegation that it was not within the powers of a trust company to make such a bargain. Justice Leventritt ruled against the company, and sustained the claim that the plaintiff has a grievance of $404,000. The justice says:

"The contract which the plaintiff has pleaded he certainly has fully executed (meaning that Mr. Gause has put the securities at the disposal of the trust company). What the defendant sought to obtain under the contract it has secured. Whether or not it availed itself of this privilege, is, on the fact, no concern of the plaintiff."

RECOGNIZED THE STONE.

Rankin Jeweler Charges Burglary Against a Man Wearing a Diamond Ring.

Charles Jones, charged with burglary by Louis Crommer, a jeweler of Rankin, was committed to jail last night by Alderman B. C. Barton. He will have a hearing this morning. Jones entered Crommer's store about a week ago and fancied a diamond ring in the show case. He asked Crommer to reduce the cost and he would buy it. The jeweler refused to consider the proposition. The next night the store was entered and robbed. Among the articles taken was the ring Jones wanted.

Jones and Crommer entered a cigar store in Rankin yesterday. Jones bought a package of cigarettes. When making payment Crommer noticed the stolen ring on Jones' finger. Jones denied that the ring had been stolen from Crommer's store, but the jeweler was positive in his identification of it. As Jones was unable to explain how he came in possession of the jewel, Crommer made information against him.

TO ELEVATE SIDEWALKS.

Fort Wayne Improvements in Allegheny Make Change Necessary.

A meeting of the public works committee of Allegheny councils was made lively last night by the discussion of an ordinance proposing the elevation of the sidewalks on Federal street. The grade of the street has been made low to conform with the Fort Wayne elevated tracks and the measure provides for a change in the grade of the street, that will leave the sidewalks between two and three feet above the street.

The ordinance was finally sent back to the city solicitor with a request that another measure be drafted.

SIMLA, INDIA, June 7.—Thibetans recently attacked the British post at Khangma. The British losses were one Khurkha killed and five wounded. The Thibetans left 174 men dead around the post and many others were killed in the pursuit.

FROM OFFICE BOY UP TO BANK'S PRESIDENT

HAMILTON, O., June 7.—(Special.)—Charles E. Heiser, who 32 years ago began his career with the Second National bank as office boy and messenger, was today elected president of the institution to succeed William E. Brown, who died last week. He worked up through every position in the bank and was until today cashier. Mr. Heiser is chairman of the county Republican committee.

WOMEN TAKE A HAND.

Making a Fight Against Street Railway Franchises in Sewickley.

The Sewickley council chamber was packed last night and many women were present to see what disposition would be made of the Sewickley Street Railway Company's application for a right of way through Beaver street, the principal residence street of the borough. Remonstrances were presented by George H. Anderson, attorney on behalf of the Women's club of Sewickley and by Attorney Charles A. Wood on behalf of property holders. Speeches of protest were made by Attorney O. S. Richardson, Attorney Frank Osborn, George E. Toner and Frank E. Paulson. The only speaker in favor of the franchise was William Dickson. At the close of the discussion the ordinance, which was presented at the previous meeting by Attorney John C. Slack, representing the railway company, was laid on the table for the remainder of the councilmanic year.

The borough millage was fixed at 6½ mills and the school millage at 6 mills.

DEFEATED BOND ISSUE.

Sharpsburg Will Not Incur Indebtedness of $85,000 for New School.

The proposed bond issue of $85,000 for erecting a new school building was defeated at the polls in Sharpsburg, yesterday, by a majority of 79.

The present North Canal street school was built 50 years ago and is said to be unfit for use. The bonds would have added one mill to the school tax, and the opposition claimed that the new St. Joseph parochial school, which will be opened in September, would take some 300 pupils away from the over-crowded North Canal street building, and that the old building would do with a few improvements.

County Superintendent of Schools Hamilton said that the women of the borough could vote on the question, and this was opposed by the opposition to the bond issue. No women, however, appeared at the polls.

HAWKINS COMMITTEE TO MEET.

Chairman William J. Diehl of the general committee in charge of the ceremonies attending the dedication next Saturday of the Hawkins memorial, sent out a notice yesterday of a meeting of the committee today. The meeting will be held at 2 p. m., at the chamber of commerce. The full program for next Saturday is to be completed at this meeting. Each of the sub-committees is represented on this general committee, and the situation in all the features of the big event will be reported.

The committee has not yet obtained sufficient funds to carry the plans through, and additional contributions will be gladly received.

CHARGED WITH MURDER.

Joseph Vilschak was committed to jail last night on a charge of being a fugitive from justice, by Alderman Vierheller. Peter Plitke alleges that Vilschak, with another man, committed murder in Germany about five months ago and escaped to this country. His companion in crime is said to be in Buffalo.

The case will be referred to the representative of the German consul in this city this morning. The representatives of the German consul claim they know nothing of the crime or the man under arrest.

The money will be paid by the farmers, who have organized the Slippery Rock, Work and Plainsgrove Reward association, which is really a band of vigilantes.

The association especially desires the capture of the robbers who tortured the Misses Elliott and William Richel, at the Elliott home two weeks ago. The same gang robbed the home of John Jordan and Charles McCracken of this county. Other smaller crimes are credited to them.

CLEVER WORK OF PUPILS.

Concert by James Stephen Martin's Students That Was Remarkably Ambitious

A very interesting concert was given by the pupils of James Stephen Martin at the Pittsburgh Carnegie Music hall last evening. The auditorium was packed with an enthusiastic audience, nearly every seat in the house being filled. There were a number of choruses, the work being done with finished execution and admirable ensemble.

Of the soloists, Miss Jane Lang, Miss Genevieve Wheat, Miss Ellis and Edward Vaughan seemed to win the greatest applause. As a pupils' recital the occasion was remarkably ambitious and would have been a distinct credit to many well-known professionals.

Martin seems not only to possess pupils with extraordinary possibilities in voice, but to have trained them to sing with ease and brilliancy. The beauty of enunciation was especially grateful to those who are accustomed to hear the words of songs wilfully butchered. Miss Wheat was noticeable for the possession of a contralto of sensational qualities, both in range and power.

"THE BIG STORE"

Silk shirtwaist suits at greatly lowered prices

THERE'S a snap and dash about these lovely silk dresses that will instantly command the attention of all discriminating women. And such a variety! The whole list of summer silks is represented.

You wouldn't look for lower prices than these after the Fourth of July, when the season is on the wane.

The manufacturers have dispensed with a large part of their usual profits—and we have done the same—that's the story of these offers in a few words. Backwardness of the season is the reason. But as for the suits—they go in these three lots:

Lot 1—At 7.45

These are the regular $15 silk shirtwaist suits—they're all very dressy garments, made of fine polka dot silks and fancy taffeta silks—the waists made full, neatly trimmed with straps and piping of contrasting shades—7 and 9 gore wide flare skirts that just clear the ground.

Lot 2—At 14.85

$20 and $22.50 are the prices at which equally fine shirtwaist suits as these retail for elsewhere—made of fine taffetas and pongee in fancy stripes, checks, browns, blue, black, and jasper—the waists trimmed with French knots; also tucked, pleated and piped—walking length skirts in wide flare effect, trimmed to match waists.

Lot 3—At 16.50

Your dressmaker would charge you twice the money and in the end you won't get a bit better fit or sweller suit. They're made of fancy foulards, polka dots and plain colored taffetas—waists made in the new broad effects handsomely piped, tucked and trimmed with buttons—side pleated and wide flare effect skirts, cut in just the proper walking length.

Three equally important sales of women's wash shirtwaist suits & tub gowns

These are made of the prettiest and coolest of the summer cotton fabrics, such as chambrays, percales, Persian lawns, linens and madras—the waists in the new broad effect, neatly piped, tucked and pleated; also trimmed with lace and blind embroidery—dress and walking length skirts, 7 and 9 gore effect, trimmed to match waists:

$3.50 suits for 1.98 — $5.00 suits for 2.98 — $8.50 suits for 5.00

GAMES TODAY.

Pittsburgh at New York.
Chicago at Brooklyn.
Cincinnati at Boston.
St. Louis at Philadelphia.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, June 7.—The Champions turned the trick on the New Yorkers, and they did it neatly, too, at the Polo grounds today. They not only beat the New York team, but shut it out by 2 to 0. The game itself was well played by both teams and good plays were made on both sides. The Goshen schoolmaster was master of the diamond and easily got away with his game, his second victory in four days. Not so bad for a pitcher whose arm was reported glassy and dead.

Nearly one-half of the hits made by Pittsburgh were for extra bases. Wagner, Ritchey and Sebring each stung the leather for half the route. Ritchey and Sebring's doubles were made in the fifth and seventh innings respectively, with none out, but on both occasions they failed to get home, owing to the fine fielding of the locals.

Leach, as he has been doing frequently here of late, opened the game with a hit past Taylor for a single. Tommy was very little time on sack No. 1 before he made a good steal of second. On Beaumont's sacrifice he moved to third, and Clarke's long fly to left sent Leach home with run No. 1, enough for the boys to win the game. In the third inning the schoolmaster drove one at Gilbert, which was hot, and Gilbert could not handle it. Leach made his second hit, a single to right, moving Leever to the third station. Both runners moved up a peg when Beaumont sacrificed.

A peculiar play took place at this point of the game. Clarke hit hard to Dahlen, who threw to Warner. The Giants' backstop, in running Leever down between third and home, also touched Leach and Leever out. Captain Clarke held a long argument with the umpires, but they stuck to their original decision. Fortunately for the Pirates, the decision cut no figure in the final score.

The Pirates' second tally came in the eighth inning. After Leach had been thrown out at first, Beaumont, by fouling off nine in a row, sent his bunt to first and made third on a wild pitch. Clarke was promptly fanned by Taylor, but Wagner made the third double for his side, scoring Beaumont and reaching third by a great sprint.

The Giants came near getting their men around on three occasions. Bresnahan got a life in the opening inning, for his side, on Bransfield's muff of Leever's assist. Wagner made a heady play on Browne's infield scorer, which he neatly trapped and doubled up Bresnahan at first. Devlin was the third out. Again in the second, with one out, Myers and Dahlen attempted a double steal, but Phelps' fine throw to Leach caught the former off third. Leever signed a pass for Gilbert, but Wagner closed the inning on a long fly to Clarke.

All in all, the Pirates showed a decided reversal of form in their playing. Their work in the field was a big improvement on the games they have been playing in the east. Their batting was not heavy, but timely. The score:

JEFFRIES WILL BE IN SHAPE FOR THE MINER

The Big Fellow Is Now in Excellent Condition and Is Doing Some Hard Work.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

HARBIN SPRINGS, CAL., June 7.—Billy Delaney now makes the official announcement that Jeffries will be in grand shape for his contest with Munroe. Delaney, as everyone knows, belongs to the old school of trainers, and there is no short cut to condition, according to the Delaney theory. A fighter may boast of the way he feels, but if he is being handled by Delaney he will have to stand the test of several hours of grueling work and come through it all without showing any particular symptoms of distress before Billy will admit that the man under his direction is fit to send into the ring.

After Delaney returned from a recent visit to San Francisco he watched Jeffries closely while at work. "He is in great shape and all he has to do is to hold himself at his present notch," said Delaney. "He will probably take off a few pounds during the coming week, but even if he remains as big as he is it won't matter. His wind is good, and I can see by his bagpunching and sandbag work that he has plenty of vim for his training. He has shown me that he is in condition for any kind of a fight, and I am satisfied. I was quite surprised when I came back to find how his condition had improved."

Yesterday the champion went in for an eight-mile run over the dusty roads and took things easy for the balance of the day. From now on he will go in largely for boxing—that is, if present plans are adhered to. Joe Kennedy's injured left arm has recovered to an extent that will permit of the San Francisco heavyweight donning the gloves with the champion, and Jack Jeffries will also be on hand to take his turn cuffing his big brother during all the excitement of the sparring bouts.

Jim expects that the boxing during all this week will be of a lively character. "I have been sparring these big fellows and taking it out of the punching bags, but it will be different from now on," said Jeffries. "I am hungry for some fast glove work, and we are going to have it."

CHANGES AT HARVARD.

Freshman Teams and Minor Sports Must Raise Their Own Money.

CAMBRIDGE, MASS., June 7.—Notice of important and sweeping changes in the management of Harvard university athletics has been given to the undergraduate managers by Professor S. H. White, chairman of the Harvard athletic committee. The 'varsity crew and the track team must raise the funds necessary for their expenses, baseball and football must support themselves out of gate receipts, the promoters of minor sports and all freshman teams must raise all their money themselves or else not be allowed to compete, and in case of any deficit games cannot be played. Professional coaches will be employed for the football and track teams only, and the managers must retrench in the matter of sweaters, numerals, medals, cups and other prizes.

The reason given for the new rules is that the construction of the new stadium in Soldiers' field has placed the committee in debt to the amount of $70,000.

ANDERSON'S CLAIM.

Thinks He Has a Champion Team. Montgomery and Ralston Will Stay.

Manager Anderson of the Turtle Creek Valley Athletics will enter a claim for the independent championship line-year. His recent victories bring his stock up high.

Anderson reports that Montgomery, the third baseman and captain, will stay with the team this year instead of going to Waynesburg, and that Ralston will remain also instead of reporting to the Washington (Pa.) club. Anderson's infield will remain intact, with Jake Chambers on first and Stevenson on second. Bridgeville will play at Turtle Creek Saturday.

IROQUOIS LINE UP.

Manager Mulheller Has Strong Lot of College Players.

John F. Mueller, manager of the Iroquois baseball club, will open his scheduled season Saturday, June 18, at St. Vincent college. Mueller will have a strong team again. His lineup is: Hill, catcher; Ray Burns, Totten and Rush, pitchers; McKenna, first; Carter, second; A. Bialas, third; Zahnisser, short; J. Bialas, left; Fraunheim, middle, and Paul Mueller, right.

Zahnisser captained this year's Princeton freshmen nine. Most of the Iroquois players are from college, and Mueller expects the best team that ever represented the club.

WASHINGTON WILL OPEN WITH INTERSCHOLASTICS

WASHINGTON, PA., June 7.—(Special.)—Arrangements are being completed for placing a fast baseball team in Washington this summer at the close of the college baseball season. Manager James P. Brownlee, who managed a team here for two seasons, is at the head of the movement. He has secured College park. The season will open Thursday, June 23 with the All-Schoastics of Pittsburgh. Manager Brownlee has scheduled games with Waynesburg, Homestead, Kane, Sharon, Martins Ferry, Braddock and Monongahela.

CATCHER'S JAW BROKEN.

Hereafter John Weisser Will Wear a Mask for Safety.

John Weisser, catcher for the Steel Works baseball team at McKeesport, was hurt last evening during a game between his team and the Brown Athletic club. His jaw was broken by a foul from his own bat.

During eight years in which he has played behind the bat he has never worn a mask, and this is his first accident.

SOCIETY

SMART equipages wound round the Beechwood boulevard yesterday afternoon, forming an almost continuous procession to the new Country club. The occasion was the large reception which Mrs. John G. Bennett and her two daughters, Miss Elizabeth Bennett and Miss Jane Bennett of South Highland avenue gave between the hours of 3 and 5 o'clock. The guests were asked to meet a third daughter of Mrs. Bennett, Mrs. John Joy Edson, Jr., of Washington, D. C., who arrived in the city on Monday morning and who will be entertained by her mother and sisters for a couple of weeks. Several affairs have been planned in her honor, but all are of an informal nature.

Between 500 and 600 guests were welcomed by the three hostesses who received with their guest of honor on the large veranda, which almost surrounds the club house. The entire house was thrown open for the inspection of the visitors.

Although one of the largest affairs of recent months, the reception was unusually informal and the decorations exceedingly simple. A long line of friends assisted in the different rooms. The guests were served from a large center table in the airy dining room. This apartment is one of the prettiest in the new building. With curtains of rich dark green, the white of the woodwork shows up particularly well, and an added note of contrast was given yesterday by the cluster of yellow daisies on the table. Tall waving palms were placed about the veranda and in the large living room were vases of feathery white peonies. The living room is finished in oak. The green tiled fireplace, over which is a painting of a hunt, is a feature of the room, with its walls and hangings of buff. The billiard room, across the hall, is finished in white and green.

Paul-Bracken.

About 300 guests witnessed the wedding of Miss Elizabeth Aloysius Paul of Carnegie and John F. Bracken of Pittsburgh, in St. Luke's Roman Catholic church, Carnegie, yesterday morning. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Father J. P. Quilter of St. Andrew's church, Allegheny, assisted by the Rev. Fathers Brennan and Shanahan. The bride, a daughter of Mrs. Mary Paul of Carnegie, is well known in Pittsburgh musical and art circles, having received her education in St. Xaviers' college. She wore a Parisian gown of white mousseline satin with a full court train, made en princesse, and trimmed with real point lace. The yoke of Duchesse point was outlined by a bertha of the same lace, and the elbow sleeves were finished with a full ruching of chiffon, under deep lace. The long tulle veil was fastened with orange blossoms. The only ornaments the bride wore were two solitaire rings and a diamond sunburst, the gift of the groom. The matron of honor, Mrs. Frank J. Farrish of Cresson, a sister of the bride, wore white brocaded satin with large picture hat made of lace. The bridesmaids were the Misses Gertrude and Amelia Heisel and Mrs. Joseph Meredith of Carnegie and Miss Nan Kearney of Cincinnati. The ushers were M. W. Fitzharris of Pittsburgh, J. W. Basil and A. J. Fitzpatrick of Gollitbin, and Robert B. McCrea of Cresson.

After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride. The house was decorated with cut flowers, ferns and potted plants, pink and white being the predominating colors. Mr. and Mrs. Bracken left in the afternoon for Long Branch and New York on their wedding tour, which will include Niagara Falls, the New England states and a part of Canada. After July 1 they will be at home to their friends at No. 309 Fifth avenue, Carnegie.

Woolslair-Holmes.

The marriage of Miss Carolyn Gertrude Woolslair and Dr. Ralph Williams Holmes, assistant superintendent of the state hospital at Gallipolis, O., was solemnized last evening at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. John Woolslair, in Beaver. The ceremony was performed at 7:30 o'clock by the Rev. Dr. N. H. Holmes, pastor of the Bellevue Methodist Episcopal church and father of the bridegroom, assisted by the Rev. Dr. Ramsey of the First Presbyterian church, Beaver. The bride was given away by her brother, John K. Woolslair. She wore a gown of white organdie over silk, with point and duchesse lace trimmings and carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley.

In the bridal party were Mrs. Don Baxter of Lima, O., matron of honor, and Miss Gertrude Shallenberger, a niece of the bride, and Miss Margaret McGrew as flower girls; William G. Holmes, a brother of the bridegroom, best man, and Paul Sturtevant of Pittsburgh, Dr. Gillman Stauffer, Akron, O.; Brown A. Patterson, Beaver, and Oliver S. Atterholt of Rochester, Pa., as ushers. Six girl friends of the bride carried the blue ribbons which marked the aisle through which the bridal party passed. The ribbon bearers were Miss Wittish, Miss Mary McCreery, Miss Lucy Moody and Miss Sallie Stone of Beaver, Miss Florence Stewart of Etna and Miss Cora Wallace of Bellevue. The matron of honor wore a pretty gown of white net over pale blue and carried dark red roses, while the flower girls wore dainty white frocks and blue ribbons, and the six girl friends were in white mull. The decorations throughout the house consisted of tropical plants and smilax, with American Beauty roses and red pepper berries from California.

First Wedding in New Church.

The first wedding in the new Beth Eden Baptist church, Juniata and Chartiers street, Allegheny, dedicated a couple of weeks ago, will be that of the pastor's daughter, Miss Letta May Hutson. The wedding will be held on Tuesday evening, June 21, the bridegroom being Henry L. Carspecken, formerly of Allegheny, but now living in Morgantown, W. Va., where he is interested in the glass industry. It will be a pretty wedding and the ceremony will be performed at 8 o'clock by the bride's father, the Rev. J. S. Hutson, D. D., who has been pastor of the Beth Eden Baptist church nearly 25 years. The bridal party will include a maid of honor, Miss Agnes Carspecken, a sister of the bridegroom, while the best man will be the bride's brother, Frederick Hutson. There will be two bridesmaids, Miss Agnes Snyder of Warren, Pa., and Miss Grace Williams of Allegheny. The ushers will include three brothers of the bride, Frank Hutson, George Hutson and Arthur Hutson, and Mr. Cunningham of Pittsburgh. After three weeks in the east Mr. Carspecken and his bride will go to Morgantown. They will not go to housekeeping for several months. Frederick Hutson, who is coming on to be the best man at his sister's wedding, is a member of the faculty of Princeton university, where he is just completing his first year as instructor in Greek. He will come home immediately after the Princeton commencement, expecting to return to the university to take up his work in September.

McKee-Stitt.

Green and white were the prevailing colors at the wedding of Miss Mary G. McKee and Harry Edwin Stitt last evening. The ceremony was performed at 8 o'clock by the Rev. William H. Hudnut of Youngstown at the home of the bride's cousins, Dr. and Mrs. Robert Morrison, in Stanton avenue, East End. Miss Jean Stitt and Miss Agnes Elizabeth Morrison were the bride's only attendants, the best man, Robert Huber, completing the wedding party. Preceding the ceremony the guests, including the relatives and most intimate friends, were received by Mrs. Morrison, Mrs. William McKee, Mrs Arthur McKee and Mrs. W. H. Stitt, the mother of the bridegroom.

The bride wore a gown of soft white mull prettily trimmed with valenciennes lace and Mexican drawn work. Her veil was the one which had been worn by her sister-in-law and intimate friend, Miss Willis McKee, at her wedding, and her flowers were white sweet peas. The two maids were dressed in white mull with green satin girdles, and carried large bunches of maidenhair fern. The decorations were wholly in green and white. After their wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Stitt will be at home in Atwood street and have announced at home days after July 1. The bride is a daughter of the late William Y. McKee, a former vice president and professor of languages in State college.

Owing to the serious illness of her father, Miss Luella Munhall will not serve as one of the bridesmaids at the wedding of Miss Carolyn M. Lappe and Edward M. Power tomorrow. Her place will be filled by Miss Elizabeth Power, a sister of the bridegroom. Mr. and Mrs. Charles O. Lappe of Stratford avenue, the parents of the bride-elect, gave a dinner for the bridal party last evening immediately before the rehearsal. In addition to the members of the bridal party, the guests included Mrs. Henry Medlar and W. H. Brill of Philadelphia, who are being entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Lappe over the wedding. Miss Lappe's gifts to her bridesmaids were little baroque pearl bar pins, the maid of honor's differing in that the pearls formed a daisy. Mr. Power presented the men in the wedding party with stick pins.

Before her marriage early in April Mrs. Campbell was Miss Martha Campbell of Cincinnati. # AMONG THE CLUBS

Re-Election of Old Officers.

At the short business meeting of the board of managers of the Home for Colored Orphans in Vernon avenue, Allegheny, yesterday afternoon, the former officers were re-elected. The election followed formal exercises conducted in the assembly room, marking the twenty-third anniversary of the founding of the institution. An address was delivered by the Rev. Ernest Paddock, rector of Emmanuel Protestant Episcopal church, and there were songs and recitations by the children, which were interesting, especially those in which the youngest children took part. The reception hours were from 2 o'clock until 5, and after the exercises visitors were conducted over the building by the managers and by the children. There are 60 girls and boys in the home. Fancy and useful articles made by them in the industrial school were for sale in the hall. From the sale of these articles the children realized a little pin money, almost all of which is sent to other children less fortunate than themselves, who are living in the south. The children also have a garden where they raise vegetables and secure additional funds for this missionary work.

The maintenance of the home last year was heavier than for several years past because of needed repairs, the expenses reaching $9,487.57 as reported by the treasurer, Mrs. John D. Carson. The re-elected officers include the president, Mrs. Ormsby Phillips; vice presidents, Mrs. J. W. Campbell, Mrs. Robert Munro and Miss Mary D. Oliver; secretary, Mrs. Julia K. Blair, and treasurer, Mrs. John D. Carson. Mrs. Edwards is matron and Miss Margaret M. Kemp teacher in the manual training school.

Yellow Daisies Instead of Roses.

An informal reception yesterday took the place of the annual rose-fete of the Women's club. The entertainment was given at the home of Mrs. Vitellius Matthews, and there were 60 guests who surrounded the tea tables. Instead of roses as decorations, as was the custom during the early years of the life of the club and until within the last few years, the decorations yesterday consisted entirely of yellow daisies, yellow being the club color.

Preceding the tea the guests were received by Mrs. Matthews, assisted by Mrs. Florence Lea, Mrs. John Evans, Miss Eva Gamble, Mrs. James Dinwiddie, Miss Anna Gerwig and Mrs. George W. L. Price. The ladies were seated at two tables, one being placed in the house and the other on the partly enclosed porch. The souvenirs were daintily painted cards. During the afternoon there was music by Mrs. Edwin Miller and Mrs. Euwar.

Though the delegates from the club have returned from the biennial meeting of the general federation in St. Louis and there was much interesting gossip concerning the business of the federation and the social entertainment of the delegates, the formal reports will not be presented until the opening meeting of the club in the fall. The year books go to the printers today and will be issued before the majority of the club women have gone away for the summer.

Closing Exercises at the Thurston School.

The closing exercises and the awarding of prizes for the year's work occurred yesterday morning at the Thurston Preparatory school in Shady avenue, East End. Honors, accompanied by prizes, were awarded in each department. The highest average was taken in the academic department by Miss Myra Thornburg; in the junior by Elizabeth Ogden; intermediate, Howe Nimick; primary, Helen Morrison. The prize for the best examination, both as to every pupil, was won by Mary Thomas of the senior department. Prizes for attendance were given Rhea Bell, Susan Helen Stevenson, Jean Brown, Louise McCutcheon, Elizabeth Ogden, Lucinda Bradford, Frank Everson, Regina Lee, Howe Nimick, Josephine Weaver, Mary Coffin and Katherine Gillespie. For marked improvement in writing prizes were taken by Dorothy Wolfe, David Jackman, Vincent Imbrie and Dwight McKelvy. The Thurston Preparatory school will open September 21, with a large class of girls who will enter college the following year.

Graduates Bowman Institute.

Six young girls graduated yesterday morning from the Bishop Bowman Institute. The commencement exercises were held in Trinity church, Sixth avenue, and the annual address was delivered by the Rev. Charles Arthur Tregaden, D. D., rector of St. Matthew's Episcopal church in Homestead. An interesting feature of the exercises was the awarding of the prizes by the Rev. Dr. Robert J. Coster, rector of the school. The gold medal for general excellence during the two years in the senior department was won by Miss Gertrude Demmler. The prize in the English department, two volumes relating to colonial times, was captured by Miss Selina Boyce; Miss Edna Hofmann took the prize in modern languages, a volume of "Japan as Seen by Famous Artists and Writers," and Miss Edith Lowe secured the prize in the preparatory department, a copy of "Famous Castles and Palaces," by Singleton. Miss Louise Stout was given honors in the post-graduate course in higher mathematics and modern history as a mark of personal esteem and appreciation of her faithfulness in study. The prize was a copy of Irving's "Life of Goldsmith." The graduating class included Miss Selina Beatrice Boyce, Miss Eva Browarsky, Miss Miriam Taylor Danner, Miss Gertrude Olga Ottilia Demmler, Miss Edna Olga Hofmann and Miss Alma Freda Ruske.

Harrison of Pittsburgh, and two cornet numbers by Will Hartz of Carnegie, accompanied by Mrs. R. F. Westermann.

Allegheny Prep. School Commencement.

The Rev. Dr. James David Moffat, president of Washington and Jefferson college, will deliver the annual address at the commencement of the Allegheny Preparatory school, which will be held on Friday evening, June 10, at 8 o'clock, in the North Presbyterian church, Grant and Lincoln avenues, Allegheny.

How long will it take the man to fill the sack if he does not stop the leak? To attempt to nourish the body when the stomach is diseased is like trying to fill the sack with the hole in it. When the stomach and other digestive and nutritive organs are diseased, there is a constant loss of nutrition.

Enough is eaten but the body loses flesh,—plain proof that the food eaten is largely wasted because it is not digested and assimilated.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It stops the leaks by which nutrition is lost, and enables the building up of the body by the nutrition derived from food. The gain in weight proves the cure.

"Three years ago I was taken sick with what the doctor called nervousness and indigestion," writes Mrs. Warren E. Parker, of Orange Street, Nantucket, Mass. "He gave me medicine for the trouble, but I could not eat even a little toast or oatmeal without suffering severely. In a few months I began to have distressing pains right in the pit of my stomach. I called the doctor again and he said I had catarrh of stomach; gave me medicine but it did not do any good. I lost 25 pounds in two months. I then commenced taking Dr. Pierce's medicines and soon began to feel better. I have taken six bottles of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' two of 'Favorite Prescription' and six vials of Dr. Pierce's Pellets. I have gained ten pounds. Can eat everything."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation.

JUDGE GRAY INDORSED IN SPITE OF REQUEST

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

DOVER, DEL., June 7—Contrary to the expressed wish of Judge George Gray, the Delaware Democratic state convention, by a unanimous vote today, instructed its delegates to the St. Louis national convention to present the names of Judge Gray to the convention as the choice of the Delaware Democracy for president and to work for his nomination. This action was taken after one of the most stormy conventions ever held in the state.

The fight between the Gray and anti-Gray factions became so bitter that the former paid no attention to Judge Gray's letter in which he asked that the delegates be not instructed. Judge Gray's letter was written to David T. Marvin of Wilmington. In it Judge Gray expressed his great anxiety for harmony in the Democratic party and held that the Democratic national convention should be left free to select for president the strongest and most available man.

Judge Gray, in reply to a question as to whether the action of the convention would change his attitude, said tonight: "I have not changed my attitude at all. I am not a candidate for president. The instructions were against my expressed wishes."

The national delegates elected are, Willard Saulsbury, L. Irving Handy, R. R. Kenney, Alfred D. Daly, Elisha C. Dukes and John P. Holland.

STOCK MARKET LESS ACTIVE, BUT PRICES CLOSE FIRM

Net Gain for the Day Averaged Less Than Half a Point—Money Remains Easy—No Gold Engaged for Export—Local Stocks Quiet.

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

There was less activity in the New York stock market yesterday, but the dealings were better distributed, and prices were steady to firm. At the opening there was a slight recession in prices, and the excitement in Ontario & Western, which was the feature on Monday, was conspicuous for its absence. This stock opened lower at 25¾ and declined to 24⅝. For nearly two hours thereafter it was neglected with the rest of the market. In the afternoon there was a resumption of the heavy buying and the price advanced to 25¾, but quickly reacted to 25, the close being at a net loss of ⅛ for the day. It was one of the few stocks which closed lower, and the quick reaction tended to confirm the Wall street view that the buying yesterday was not of the same character as the day before. Reading was quite firm all day, advancing to 45⅜, and from the tenor of the gossip in professional circles it would not surprise us if this stock were to be the next that is taken up and made active. Traders who have heretofore been bearish on Reading were yesterday predicting that it would enter the dividend-paying list sooner than anyone now thought possible, basing their argument upon the earnings of the property and the smallness of the floating supply of stock.

St. Paul was the strongest of the railroad list in the final dealings and advanced to 141, closing at a net gain of 1 per cent. There was a slight recovery in Chicago Great Western and the granger stocks as a whole were firmer. Pennsylvania was strong, advancing to 114⅝, and Baltimore & Ohio advanced to 70. The average advance for the active railroad list at the close was ⅜ per cent over the day before.

The industrials were less active than for some time past, but followed the course of the general market. United States Steel preferred, after declining to 52⅝, rallied to 53¾ at the close. Amalgamated Copper recovered to 46⅝ and closed at a net gain of ⅜.

There have been events within the past six weeks which ordinarily would have caused declines in the stock market. The overwhelming defeat sustained by the Russians, causing an unsettled feeling in continental markets; the unprecedentedly heavy exports of gold; the withdrawal of government deposits from bank; the reaction in the iron trade, and, more important than all, the backwardness of the season for the crops, were naturally looked upon as bear ammunition. It is now apparent that the public was not a seller of the market, and there is a reasonable inference that the short interest was increased. On this theory, it would be natural that a recovery should take place, if based upon no better foundation than enforced covering of contracts. The impression in the street that the strength of the past few days is based upon the nervousness of the shorts, and the opinion was pretty generally expressed yesterday that a rally on the short interest between now and the meeting of the Republican national convention in Chicago just two weeks hence is in order.

There was again a dearth of influential news yesterday, but it is possible that rumors of the settlement of the coal strike which is interfering with lake traffic were responsible for the better feeling toward the close of the day. A private telegram from Cleveland to a local banking house stated that some of the lake captains were gradually breaking away from the union and taking out their vessels, and that this was believed to foreshadow an early settlement of the strike. The weekly bulletin of the weather bureau on crop conditions, issued after the market was closed, was unfavorable. In some sections the weather had been too cool for the rapid growth of corn, but, taking the average east of the Rocky mountains, there has been an improvement in crop conditions during the week.

Call loans closed easy and unchanged at 1@1¼ per cent. The flow of currency is still toward the east, and despite the strength of sterling exchange there were no engagements of gold for export. Interior bankers are said to be offering low-rate time loans in New York, and are shipping currency to meet drafts made against these loans.

Transactions on the Pittsburgh stock exchange were nearly double those for Monday, but the changes in price were insignificant. Eight securities closed unchanged from the last previous sale. The principal declines were in Crucible preferred, which sold at 35½, Westinghouse Airbrake, which sold at 127, and Philadelphia Company preferred, which sold at 44, closing at 43½ bid. River Coal preferred was heavy at 24 and Pittsburgh Coal preferred unchanged at 54½. There was nothing doing in Westinghouse Electric, which closed a little firmer at 77¼ bid.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

"We are not doing anything of consequence in stocks, but there is no trouble to sell good bonds," remarked a member of a local bond house yesterday. "Investors, however, are insisting upon the best, the newer issues paying a higher rate of return being passed over for something that has a wider margin of safety, or that has a ready market. I have been studying the situation pretty closely of late, and I feel more confident than ever that we will have a good bond market in the early fall and for the rest of the year. There is now every indication that money will remain easy, and it is almost equally plain that the demand for new business will be lighter than for two or three years past. Speculation is also likely to remain dull for several months to come, which will mean that brokers will not be called upon to increase their borrowing for margin business. It seems to me that the banks will have to reduce the rate of interest allowed on daily balances. This movement is likely to begin in the east and gradually extend westward. The effect will be to divert funds into the bond market. The offerings of really first-class bonds is light, and as soon as these are exhausted buyers will be compelled to turn their attention to other grades."

The heaviness in River Coal preferred, which yesterday sold at 24, is apparently based upon nervousness over the action that will be taken this month on the semi-annual dividend. This action will not be due for more than a week, and no official expression of opinion is obtainable in advance. The only "argument" that has been used which is responsible for the uncertainty on the part of stockholders is that River Coal preferred dividend is not cumulative; that Pittsburgh Coal, which controls River Coal, owns more of the common stock than of the preferred stock, and hence it should be decided to reduce or pass the dividend at any time in the future the common stock would be the real beneficiary, because the dividend would not have to be "made good" to preferred stockholders. On the other hand, it is said that the River Coal Company was never so fortunate as it has been this year in the matter of navigation, absence of serious accidents to fleets and the accumulation of coal in southern markets, and that earnings should therefore more than justify the maintenance of the regular rate.

Westinghouse Airbrake declined a half point to 127 and closed at that price bid. A report was current in Wall street that the extra dividend to be declared this week would be again reduced; but the Airbrake dividends are not declared in Wall street.

The 3-cent cut in the price of crude oil yesterday had no effect upon the stocks of the natural gas companies, which derive a portion of their income from oil production.

The gross earnings of Great Northern for May decreased $168,000, reflecting the contraction of business which is steadily creeping over the country.

The membership in the Pittsburgh stock exchange of John T. Patterson, deceased, has been posted for transfer to F. G. Barker. Mr. Barker is president of the Beaver County Trust Company of New Brighton.

The Western Union directors will today declare the regular quarterly dividend of 1¼ per cent.

The Cuban government is considering another bond issue of $20,000,000, so that all the claims of the revolutionists will be promptly paid. The proceeds of the first loan, $35,000,000, it is now understood, will be paid in one remittance, instead of three.

The eastern money market was almost stagnant and rates were inclined to droop, though with little money offering at the present unattractive rates. Practically all of that had been placed. The rates at Paris to 25 francs 17½ centimes was a decisive indication that the course of capital was no longer drawing toward that center. Incoming gold to the London market was accordingly taken by the Bank of England, with no demand for Paris account. The discount market was yielding both in Paris and London. The market for sterling in New York also yielded, thus deferring, if not averting, an outgo of gold to London from New York.

The New York bond market was irregular, with weak spots among the lower grade bonds. Total sales par value, $1,745,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call.

The semi-annual payment of $2 per share on the 4 per cent regular debenture stock of the Chicago Great Western Railway Company will be made July 15 to the holders of record June 30.

The regular 2½ per cent semi-annual dividend has been declared on Denver & Rio Grande preferred.

An experienced observer in Wall street expresses this opinion: "The technical position of the market is in its favor. At a time when bearish sentiment is so general as now it is entirely safe to assume that, despite the inactivity of speculation, a short interest of considerable proportions must exist. Commission houses which a year and a half ago were borrowing money by the millions are almost unanimous in asserting that their holdings of stocks for customers and their loans have been reduced to an unimportant total, and these statements obtain verification from time money brokers, who frankly admit that the demand for money from Wall street commission houses is almost nil. One need not delude himself into accepting the theory that because there is no liquidation of securities now there never can be. The fact that stocks are concentrated in the hands of large holders makes liquidation doubly dangerous in case it comes. Anything like a failure of the crops this season, when railroad indebtedness and fixed charges have been so heavily increased, would probably convince perennial bulls that the market is never safe from liquidation no matter by whom securities are owned. But with the increase in cotton acreage and improvement in condition, the possibility of crop failure is likely to be awaited with more complacency and courage, and should the harvests realize present hopes railroad earnings may atone for the tremendous increase in fixed liabilities which now weighs so heavily on the market."

A brokerage firm draws attention to Steel preferred as an active speculation. It makes the following interesting points: "Suppose that you buy 100 shares of United States Steel preferred at say, 54. We believe, and probably you believe, that a 10-point margin will be ample to protect it. We think that it is extremely improbable that the stock will sell below 50, even if the dividend rate should be reduced to 4 per cent for a time. The transaction, therefore, would call for $5,000 in cash. You would be charged with the interest on $4,400, at the rate of 5 per cent per annum, and would be credited with the dividends, which at present rate amount to $700 per annum on 100 shares. The difference between $220, the interest charged, and $700, the dividend received, is $480. This represents the net profits for a year on the $1,000 deposited, and is equivalent to 48 per cent. There is the remote possibility that the dividend might be cut. If it is reduced to 4 per cent the profits would be reduced to $280, or 28 per cent. There is the further possibility that the market price might be affected. Should that a loss would be shown upon realizing. As we said before, however, we think that this possibility is not serious, and the chances are much greater that the market price of the stock will advance than that it will decline. Moreover, in addition to the income from dividends, any purchaser of the stock will obtain also a good profit from the increase in market value of his holdings. In estimating the outcome of an operation like this kind, however, we eliminate the possibility of a gain in this direction, and assume that at the end of a year the stock is sold at precisely the price at which it was bought. We consider that this is amply conservative."

Charles Ruben Purchases No. 917 for an Investment.

REALTY AND BUILDING DEALS

Charles Ruben, formerly of the firm of Solomon & Ruben, and a well-known realty investor, who has been absent from the market for months, appeared yesterday as the buyer of 917 Fifth avenue, which he secured from J. N. Wolkowsky of New York. The deal was handled by I. Goldstein, salesman for George C. Norris & Co., but no intimation of the price paid could be learned from the brokers. It is known, however, that the sale is consummated and for cash. The property measures 22x112 feet, on the north side of Fifth avenue, opposite Chestnut street, and between Washington and Federal streets. It is only one-half square from the new Washington bank building and has a rear entrance from Verona alley, making it more valuable for business purposes. Figured on the prices quoted for other properties in this neighborhood the Wolkowsky lot is worth between $38,000 and $40,000, so no price less than $1,700 a front foot is named for lots in this vicinity. The lot bought is improved with a good two-story brick store building, which covers nearly the entire lot and rents for $2,400 a year. Mr. Ruben's purchase, which was made for an investment solely, is another indication that shrewd buyers are taking to the territory beyond the hump since the removal is more definitely promised.

Deals That Show Better Inquiry.

Four good sales of residence property were announced yesterday. G. Kuhelewind sold to Carl Hartwig a plot of vacant frontage, 105x200 feet in Craig street, near Center avenue, Thirteenth ward, for $10,000. It is understood the property will be improved at once.

Edward L. Riley sold to Morris Snyder an improved property, 24x120 feet, on the north side of Penn avenue, near Twenty-ninth street, Twelfth ward, for $10,000.

Mary E. Neumont purchased from Julia B. Nill an improved lot, 30x140 feet, in the east side of Craig street, near Center avenue, Thirteenth ward, for $10,000. She also sold to the Rev. Coleman Gasparik an improved property, 24x80 feet, on the southeast corner of Bedford avenue and Shipton street, Eleventh ward, for $7,000. The residence will be used as a parish house for the Presbyterian church.

The deals announced last week have had a very encouraging effect upon the realty fraternity this week. At least three large downtown deals are now pending, which may be closed within a few days, and will have considerable significance owing to the location of the properties. It is the general opinion of brokers that June bids fair to be a much better month than May in realty selling, as the return of experienced and large buyers is sure to stimulate activity in the districts where they purchase.

Building Projects of Over $500,000.

As showing that there is a better feeling in building circles than for months the projects of the Commercial Building Company have an important showing. The company has on its books building projects amounting to over $500,000, most of which are just being started. Not only are several speculative builders getting into the field again, but the number of individual house building operations is increasing each week. Among the best projects of the company are the following: Eight brick houses and one flat building for A. Panarello in Jumilla street, Thirteenth ward, to cost $25,000; five frame houses for John C. White of the Continental Tract Company to be built in Madison avenue at a cost of $18,000; a $10,000 residence for Samuel Kline in Jackson street, near Farragut street, Nineteenth ward; a $6,000 house for Hugh McCurry in Carrick avenue, Baldwin township; two houses for John C. Porter in California avenue, Allegheny, to cost $4,000 each; five brick houses for Mrs. E. B. O'Neill in Breading and Forest avenues, Emsworth, to cost $8,000 each; 18 eight-room frame houses for the Lawton Real Estate Company in Emerson place and Euclid avenue, Tenth ward, Allegheny, to cost $54,000; three brick houses for C. N. Rayburn in Farragut street, near Jackson street, Nineteenth ward, to cost $15,000, and six brick and shingle residences for Frank Thornburg to be erected in Thornburg from plans by the E. M. Butz Company at a cost of $8,000 each.

Annexation Good for Property Owners.

The annexation of Elliott borough to the city of Pittsburgh is pretty certain, in the opinion of real estate brokers, to be a decided benefit to property owners there. Several reasons are given for this opinion. The taxes, it is said, will be considerably lower than now, making the place more attractive for new buyers. Owing to the fact that Elliott will henceforth be known as the Thirty-ninth ward, and not an outlying borough, it will seem much nearer to the money-lender, and he will advance money on mortgages more readily than now because he knows that his property will be provided with sewers, gas and water mains and be assured of fire and police protection. This taking away the idea of remoteness will encourage promoters, too, to push building projects and organize corporations to develop vacant frontage. As a result property values are almost sure to advance in the more desirable parts of the borough ward within a year, and a steady increase in population is looked for.

Following out its policy of concentrating its trade in Pittsburgh, the New Stove and Range Company yesterday took out a permit for the erection of a $5,000 building in Preble avenue, near Superior street, Ninth ward, Allegheny, where the Anchutz plant of the company is located. The company will later build a $50,000 addition in the same vicinity, thus bringing all of its plants to this point except one near Reynoldsville. The De Haven and the Baldwin-Graham plants in Allegheny have already been sold, and it is said that the property at Darrah and East Robinson streets will soon be disposed of.

Coffee and Sugar.

NEW YORK, June 7.—The market for coffee futures opened steady at unchanged prices to an advance of No. 4 points in the absence of European markets, the continued stability of primary prices, and the moderate Brazilian receipts. Demand was light, but sellers were scarce and the market, while quiet, ruled generally steady to firm at the close, closing firm at a net advance of 10@15 points. Sales were reported of 18,500 bags including June at 5.50@5.55c; July at 5.60@5.65c; September at 5.80@5.90c; November at 6.05c; December at 6.10@6.20c; March at 6.35@6.45c, and May at 6.50@6.65c. ### The Horse Market.

There were a good many buyers at the Pittsburgh exchange yesterday, but they wanted drivers principally. About 150 sales were made and prices ranged about the same as the week before. One driving horse with buggy, marked "first-class," brought $115 in short order. Some of the best driving stock ever placed on sale in Pittsburgh is now being offered.

BIG DAY'S BUSINESS IN THE BERRY MARKET

New Cherries Are Easier—Old Potatoes Are Advanced and Hay Looks Better.

Big strawberry buyers were in the market good and strong yesterday, and all stock was sold early in the day. Preservers put in appearance for the first time and their purchases alone amounted to about 10 carloads. Prices are now lower, but the berries are not so good as last week. One house in Liberty avenue reported yesterday that it had disposed of 15,000 quarts at a single sale. New cherries are now coming in fast and prices are reduced 50c. Comparatively few peaches are on sale at present, but Texas stock, in addition to the Florida, will be here in a few days. All tropical fruits are in fair request. Old potatoes have advanced from 25c to 50c a bushel. Prices higher prices than at any time for several months. It is thought probable that the $1 50 mark will be reached before the supply of old stock is exhausted. Beans were firmer yesterday, while peas were easier. Onions are quiet, but tomatoes are still scarce and good stock is commanding full prices.

There was no change in poultry yesterday, but springers may be reduced very soon. This will stimulate the market generally. Eggs are in good demand, despite the warm weather, and prices hold up well. Smoked meats are wanted more every day. New mackerel has not yet arrived, but is expected in before the end of the week. A fair all-round demand at steady prices was the grocery situation. Flour is firm and will likely continue so for the rest of the month. No change in coffee, though it is looked for before long. Rice is more active than ever; so is sugar. The local hay market is in a very unsettled state just now. No. 1 timothy is offering at $15 00 and No. 2 is selling anywhere from $12 75 to $14 00, depending upon the quality. There was a fair to great deal on hand yesterday and dealers are declaring themselves as having more confidence in the market. They would not be surprised to see a decided upward tendency inside of a few days. Green corn is firm on the advance of Monday. Ear corn is easier and prices are reduced 1c. There is nothing new in straw, little offering and the demand being comparatively slim.

HAY, GRAIN AND FEED.

The Wool Market.

BOSTON, June 7.—While trade in the Boston wool market is quiet, there is a more confident feeling among dealers, who look for better prices as the outcome of the situation in the west, where the market is higher for some grades than it is here. ### The Drygoods Market.

NEW YORK, June 7.—The drygoods market is in the same waiting attitude with buyers anticipating some development on the price question. More or less export business is in progress, but domestic buyers exhibit little interest in this class of goods. The outlook is for no immediate improvement, but it is believed that before the summer is over a decided change will be noted in the buyer's attitude.

WHEAT TAKES SPURT ON CHICAGO GRAIN MARKET

At the Close Yesterday Corn, Oats and Provisions Also Showed an Advance.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, June 7.—A large decrease in the world's visible supply was perhaps the principal bull influence in the wheat market today. Crop damage reports from the southwest, however, were of almost equal importance. Final quotations on July wheat showed a gain of ⅝@⅞ cent. Corn is up ⅝@⅞ cent. Oats advanced ½@¾ cent and provisions 15 cents to 37½ cents.

Improved weather conditions and easier cables caused a small decline in wheat at the opening. Initial sales of July being down ½ to ¾ cent at 87⅛@87½c. On an active demand from shorts and good commission buying, sentiment soon changed. Much smaller receipts in the northwest had an important bearing on the early situation. The tone of crop news from the southwest was also generally considered quite bullish. An official forecast of more showers for that section brought out additional buying orders. Offerings, however, were not large, and, as a result, prices steadily advanced.

The market was further strengthened by the world's visible supply figures, Bradstreet's report showing a decrease in available stocks of 4,000 bushels. There was some realizing and selling due to expectations of a bearish Illinois crop report, but the declining tendency was soon checked and prices again started upward. A bearish crop report was a help to the late wheat market. Just before the close reports of a big crop in Manitoba caused some realizing, resulting in another setback. Sentiment, however, continued firm. The high point on July was reached at 89⅝@89¾c, and the close was at 88@88⅛ cents. Clearances of wheat and flour were equal to 66,500 bushels. Primary receipts were 352,100 bushels, compared with 261,600 bushels a year ago. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported receipts of 246 cars, against 570 cars last week and 304 cars a year ago.

Under active covering by shorts, a rally of about a cent occurred in corn. With the exception of large primary receipts, the news of the day was extremely bullish. Receipts were 300 cars less than the number estimated, cash prices were up 1 to 2 cents and the weekly weather bureau report showed the crop to be in a very backward condition. A forecast of more rain in the corn belt also helped to increase bullish sentiment. The market closed almost at the highest point touched. July opened a shade lower to ⅛@¼ cent higher at 48⅝@48⅞ cents, sold up to 49⅝@49⅝ cents and closed at 49½ cents. Local receipts were 607 cars, with 55 of contract grade.

Oats were dull but stubbornly firm. Strength of wheat and corn was the main sustaining influence. There was no attempt made to sell on the bearish weekly government report, scalpers apparently being afraid to take the short side. July opened unchanged at 39⅝, declined to 39⅜@39¾ and 40 cents, closing at 39⅝@39½ cents. Local receipts were 206 cars.

Trading in provisions was more active and tme market manifested greater strength than for some time past. There was an urgent demand from shorts and a prominent packer also was a heavy purchaser. Light receipts of hogs, with a firm market at the yards, was responsible for much of the buying. The close was at the top, with September pork up 37½ cents at $12 32½. # FIND THEY MUST INCREASE RATES

LADIES HOLD A HIVE REVIEW

The triennial convention of the Knights of the Maccabees of the great tent of Pennsylvania is in session in Pittsburgh. The convention began yesterday and will close today. At the same time the great hive of the Ladies of the Maccabees began its convention.

The most important business before the triennial convention of the Maccabees is the proposed readjustment of the fraternal insurance rates. Nearly all fraternal organizations have been compelled to readjust rates, which means an increase in payments to be paid by men over a certain age. The supreme tent of the Maccabees will decide the matter for the national body in July, in Port Huron, Mich., and in the meantime the great tents of the states will act on the proposed changes and instruct their delegates to the supreme tent convention.

The convention began in the Masonic temple in Collins avenue. Great Commander W. E. Blaney presiding. The discussion on the proposed insurance readjustment was begun immediately and continued four hours, with an adjournment for luncheon. It will be taken up again today and disposed of, after which the great officers will be elected.

There is no doubt of the re-election of the present officers, Great Commander W. E. Blaney, Great Lieutenant Commander Charles H. Garlick, Great Record Keeper L. S. Boyd and Great Finance Keeper R. S. MacKenzie. Pickets, sentinels and other officers will also be elected, and there may be somewhat of a contest to fill those places.

The convention was addressed by Supreme Commander D. P. Markey, Supreme Record Keeper D. T. Aiken and Supreme Finance Keeper L. S. Sisler. Other visitors are Great Commander McDaniels and Great Record Keeper Dewey, both of New York.

The Ladies of the Maccabees call their convention the fourth review of the great hive of Pennsylvania. So well did the press committee do its work that all Pittsburgh yesterday knew that the great hive was buzzing here, but did not know the great tent was doing business also. The review is being held in Braun's auditorium in South Highland avenue. Great Commander Elizabeth E. Brown opened yesterday's session with prayer. Routine matters occupied the morning, memorial services and the reading of committee reports the afternoon.

The leading officers present from a distance are Supreme Record Keeper Bine M. West, Supreme Commander Lillian L. Hollister, Medical Examiner, Dr. Susan F. Rose, Past Great Commander Mrs. Harriet M. Ellsworth, Great Commander Elizabeth E. Brown, Great Lieutenant Commander Alice E. Schell, Great Record Keeper Nellie E. Lounsbery and Great Finance Keeper Minnie E. Berger.

A reception was held at night in Braun's auditorium in which the knights and ladies took part. A feature was the drill by 27 members of the Wilkinsburg hive, under the direction of the great finance keeper, Minnie E. Burgin. The evening closed with a euchre and ball.

WHOLE FAIR CITY TO GREET LIBERTY BELL

Big Preparations for Welcoming the Famous Relic Today. Crowds at Dubuque.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

ST. LOUIS, June 7.—Preparations are being made for the reception of the famous old liberty bell, which is to arrive tomorrow. Mayor Wells has issued a holiday proclamation and the city will welcome the historic American relic.

The bell will be escorted from its car to the Pennsylvania building, where it will hang during the exposition. The schools will be closed during the day, and thousands of school children will be admitted to the grounds free.

In a letter received by the exposition company, today, Secretary of Treasury Shaw gave formal notification that if payments on the $4,000,000 government loan were not promptly forthcoming when due he, as the guardian of the United States treasury, will take charge of receipts and collection and fair tickets. The letter formally reminds the exposition company of the date for the payment of the first installment of the loan and incloses a copy of the rules governing the loan and repayments.

DUBUQUE, IA., June 7.—Twenty thousand people saw the Liberty bell here today. The special train stopped for an hour, during which time the school children were allowed to examine the relic. The crush at the depot when the train arrived was so great that several persons were injured.

WILL FIGHT LARGE BEQUEST FOR SEMINARY

NEW YORK, June 7.—Distant relatives of Mrs. Henry R. Winthrop interposed objections today before Surrogate Fitzgerald to her bequest of about $2,000,000 to the Theological seminary of the Presbyterian church at Princeton. Objection is made on the ground that the seminary, not being an incorporated body, cannot hold such a bequest and that an educational institution cannot receive more than one-half of any person's estate.

WONDERFUL CURE OF SORE HANDS

By Cuticura After the Most Awful Suffering Ever Experienced.

EIGHT DOCTORS

And Many Remedies Failed to do a Cent's Worth of Good.

"About five years ago I was troubled with sore hands, so sore that when I would put them in water the pain would very nearly set me crazy, the skin would peel off and the flesh would get hard and break. There would be blood flowing from at least fifty places on each hand. Words could never tell the suffering I endured for three years. I tried everything that I was told to use for fully three years, but could get no relief. I tried at least eight different doctors, but none of them seemed to do me any good, as my hands were as bad when I got through doctoring as when I first began. I also tried many remedies, but none of them ever did me one cent's worth of good. I was discouraged and heart-sore. I would feel so bad mornings when I got up, to think I had to go to work and stand the pain for ten hours, and I often felt like giving up my position. Before I started to work mornings I would have to wrap every finger up separately, so as to try and keep them soft, and then wear gloves over the rags to keep the grease from getting on my work. At night I would have to wear gloves in bed. In fact, I had to wear gloves all the time. But thanks to Cuticura, the greatest of all great skin cures. After doctoring for three years, and spending much money, a 50c. box of Cuticura Ointment ended all my sufferings. It's been two years since I used any and I don't know what sore hands are now, and never lost a day's work while using Cuticura Ointment."

The Allegheny board of school controllers met last night in the assembly room of the new High school annex. Before the meeting opened the Fifth ward school board met in the office of Supt. John Morrow and re-elected H. W. Golden principal.

Osterling. David O. Dalzell was re-elected librarian and Miss Mattie McAllister was re-elected assistant. Dalzell's salary was raised from $1,000 to $1,500 per year. Miss McAllister's salary was increased to $50 per month.

All the principals and teachers in the wards were re-elected on the recommendation of the local boards, except in the Ninth ward, where no recommendation was made. Clifford B. Connelley was re-elected superintendent of the industrial schools; Miss Mary S. Garretson, supervisor of drawing; W. A. Davis and Walter G. Mears, teachers of music, and Herman Groth, superintendent of physical instruction.

SUBMARINE TORPEDO BOAT TRIUMPHANTLY EMERGED

Every Detail of the Test of the Fulton Was a Complete Success.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

NEWPORT, R. I., June 7.—Navy men spent 12 hours last night and this orning in the tiny living room of the submarine torpedo boat Fulton as she rested 40 feet below the surface of Narragansett bay. It was a test of the splendid nerve of the naval fighting man as well as the supreme test of the deep-under-the-sea war engine, and both emerged triumphant.

This morning the surface of the bay just off the torpedo station began showing air bubbles on a scale slightly larger than those thrown by a porpoise. There was an interval of five minutes and then slowly from out of the depths rose a great hulking mass of iron. Gradually it took definite shape and the Fulton lay floating once more on the surface of the bay.

The men were as fresh looking as though they had spent the night in barracks. They seemed loath to leave the Fulton. In every detail the test had been a success. At no time was any discomfort felt by any of the men.

PHILADELPHIA FIRM TO FURNISH CAPITOL

John H. Sanderson Awarded the Contract for Costly Interior Ornaments.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

HARRISBURG, PA., June 7.—The contract for furnishing and decorating the new capitol, the amount of which may exceed $1,000,000, was awarded to John H. Sanderson of Philadelphia today by the board of public grounds and buildings, composed of Gov. Pennypacker, Auditor General Snyder and State Treasurer Mathues.

The contract includes all the furniture, especially designed by Joseph M. Huston of Philadelphia, architect of the capitol, the costly carpets, rugs and hangings, the elaborate electrical fixtures and other expensive decorations and fixings. The other bidders for this contract were Strawbridge & Clothier and J. Wilt & Son of Philadelphia, both of whom are lower than Mr. Sanderson.

The latter has furnished a bond for $100,000 to complete the contract within three years. The bidding was in the customary way, the bidders fixing their figures at so much percentage off the maximum price fixed by the board.

Bids for the supplies for the state departments for one year were also opened today and the awards will be made at next Tuesday's meeting of the board. There were 77 bidders, nearly all of whom are Harrisburg and Philadelphia firms.

Representatives of Pittsburgh labor organizations are going to Harrisburg tonight to ask that the contracts for the interior work on the state capitol stipulate that union men shall be given the preference in employing labor. Among those who will go are John Haskins, secretary of the Building Trades council; T. M. Blackburn, president of the district council of the Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators and Paper Hangers; Frank B. Smith, general vice president of the Brotherhood of Painters; James J. McKee, business agent of the plumbers; T. J. Williams, business agent of the tile layers; M. O. Sullivan, vice president of the Amalgamated Association of Sheet Metal Workers, and J. Guenther of the marble workers. Delegations from Philadelphia, Scranton, Wilkesbarre, Harrisburg, Altoona and Johnstown will also go to Harrisburg for the same purpose. President Blackburn received a communication from Gov. Samuel W. Pennypacker yesterday, in which he states he will use his influence to have the commission grant the requests of the workmen.

SAXONY'S SOVEREIGN IS CRITICALLY ILL

By MALCOLM CLARK.
[Special Cable to The Gazette.]

BERLIN, June 7.—I have reliable information from Dresden that old King George of Saxony, who has not been well for some time, is now in a very dangerous condition. Since last night he has been subject to violent spasms which are causing his family and the physicians the gravest anxiety.

For some time King George has been unable to retain nourishment. His vitality is very low and it is feared that he will not be strong enough to resist this new attack. It had been the intention of his physicians to have him start on his annual trip to Ems, where the climate and the water of the springs have always greatly benefitted him, but under the present circumstances this has been given up, or at least postponed indefinitely.

Until the elopement of his daughter-in-law, Crown Princess Louise, with M. Giron, the toutor of her children, the old king was unusually hale and hearty, but this was too much for him and his health has been failing ever since.
